PREFACE

Lt Col Cowan wishes to express his thanks to Mr Steven Hobbs, County and Diocesan Archivist, and the staff of the Wiltshire Record Office, with whom the Peniston archive is deposited on behalf of the Salisbury Diocesan Registry, for making the letter-books available, and for generous advice and assistance during the preparation of this edition. He would also like to acknowledge the kindness and help of Miss Suzanne Eward, Salisbury Cathedral Librarian; and Mr Bruce Purvis, Salisbury Local Studies Librarian, Wiltshire Libraries, Museums and Arts.

Members are asked to note that the International Standard Book Numbers printed in volumes 48 and 49 are incorrect. The correct numbers are: volume 48, ISBN 0 901333 25 5; volume 49, ISBN 0 901333 26 3.

Dr Jane Freeman retired in 1994 after six years' distinguished service as general editor of the Wiltshire Record Society series. Col Cowan and I both wish to express our appreciation of the skill with which she has guided this project, and I should like to add my personal gratitude for her kindness and advice upon my taking up the mantle of editor.

INTRODUCTION

THREE GENERATIONS OF LETTERS

John Peniston (c.1778–1848) founded a dynasty of Salisbury architects, which was continued by his son John Michael (1807–58), and grandson Henry (1832–1911). Together they were responsible for more than 7,000 letters written between 1823 and 1858, which were copied into a series of letter-books now deposited in the Wiltshire Record Office (WRO 451/58–69). They form part of a much larger accumulation of Peniston business papers, which includes deeds, plans, printed and much miscellaneous material. Many of these items relate to letters included here. This volume presents in calendar form, with some full transcripts, nearly 1,700 letters written from October 1823, when the letter-books begin, until 31 December 1830. The latter date is arbitrary, chosen to produce a volume of manageable length and representative of the various facets of John Peniston’s career. He was the writer of the majority of these letters, although during the course of 1829 and 1830 his son became increasingly involved in the more mundane aspects of the business, and a number of letters are his.

THE SCOPE OF THE LETTERS

Most of the letters are concerned with some aspect of the professional practice of John Peniston, by calling a surveyor and recorded on his gravestone as an architect. This work was wide-ranging in content and took place throughout Wiltshire, and to some extent in the adjacent counties. Within Wiltshire his additional responsibility as County Surveyor involved him in repairs and maintenance to bridges and prisons.

The business correspondence is interspersed with extensive and often detailed letters about the routine administration of the Wiltshire Yeomanry Cavalry, as well as the exceptional episode in November 1830 when the yeomanry suppressed the uprising of agricultural labourers referred to as the ‘Swing’ riots. These letters (1625–41, passim) provide important hitherto unpublished evidence about a well known and much studied local historical event.

His involvement as a prominent member of the local catholic community is reflected in a significant number of letters, in this sphere tending to chronicle the exceptional rather than routine events. There are occasional references also to a variety of business and private interests, including dealing in wine and whiting, estate management, and building cottages on speculation.

Peniston’s letters are significant not just for what they say, but also for what they omit. He was a busy man, constantly travelling, who only wrote when it was necessary. The letters have little to say about building work in and immediately around Salisbury, which could easily be dealt with in person. There are only passing references to some matters which indicate substantial business. Conversely other projects, supervised from a distance, might generate a score or more letters. The rebuilding of Clarendon House and a dispute over work at Farnborough Place (Hants) result in more than fifty letters apiece.

The letters are a rich source of incidental information about the nature, extent and organization of a professional man’s affairs in a relatively small provincial centre during the decade before the first impact of rail travel and the opening of the Victorian era. Some aspects of this career are discussed in greater detail below.

THE CORRESPONDENTS

The recipients of the letters form a fairly complete spectrum of society - aristocrats, gentry, clergy, professional colleagues, officials, tradesmen and artisans. A proportion lived in and around Salisbury, but Peniston’s range of acquaintances extended throughout Wiltshire and neighbouring counties, particularly Hampshire and Dorset. More than 200 of the letters were sent to London addresses, and there were correspondents in Ireland and France.

Peers are noticeable because their houses were being refurbished or they were concerned with the Wiltshire Yeomanry. Some, such as Lord Palmerston, tended to be addressed directly; some feature in correspondence with their steward (Mr Webb for Lord Normanton) or their agent (Mr Baker in Dublin for the Earl of Enniskillen). Lord Arundell appears in both religious and yeomanry contexts.

Correspondence with Members of Parliament is a distinctive feature. Most letters are unrelated to parliamentary business, such as those to Charles Baring Wall, concerning work on his country house, Norman Court; or to John Benett, for whom Peniston was disposing of material from the ruins of Fonthill Abbey. When he needed to, however, Peniston drew on these useful contacts. Between February and April 1830 he canvassed opposition to a local bill which would have changed the basis of poor-rate assessment in Salisbury (1253, 1311, 1314). And in August 1830 he travelled to Essex to help in the successful election campaign for a parliamentary candidate, John Tyssen Tyrell (1515).

A further distinct group of correspondents is formed by his professional colleagues, architects and surveyors in neighbouring towns, such as Bath, Andover and Winchester. Peniston sometimes listed them when suggesting names for the selection of a referee (e.g. 556). Some were clearly personal friends, such as Anthony Wingrove of Trowbridge, with whom he conducted a great deal of county business. Others were held in courteous respect, such as George Underwood of Bath (1189) or Mr Percy of Sherborne (1611). With William Garbett of Winchester, the most frequent correspondent in this category, his relationship fluctuated. Exasperation at his dilatory behaviour (e.g. 541, 598) rapidly dissolved into satisfaction that he was appointed referee in a dispute (566). In 1830 Peniston rearranged the date of a meeting so that he and Garbett would be able to attend Salisbury race meeting (1458).

Relations between successful London architects and their provincial brethren are illustrated in various ways. Peniston appears to have had a close friendship with Thomas Hopper (e.g. 755), in whose office his son, John Michael, worked for a spell. He nevertheless wrote to him with deference, and seems happy to have regarded himself as Hopper's assistant (704). His relationship with a London engineer, Timothy Bramah, was similar. To a Catholic architect in London, Edward Foxhall, he offered to act as clerk of works (1465) but was rejected (1483). When a client replaced him with a Mr Tatham, he wrote that he did not have the vanity to compete with London architects (1017), but confronted by the overbearing William Hopperton he appears to have stood his ground (1502).

One professional colleague to whom Peniston may with some justification have felt superior was the young Richard Upjohn of Shaftesbury. Upjohn, through inexperience, had incurred the displeasure of the Shaftesbury Wesleyans (799), and facing bankruptcy decided to emigrate. He left for New York, with Peniston's good wishes (793) but with a debt unpaid (852); by 1840 he had established a successful practice, and became the first president of the American Institute of Architects. His Gothicizing influence on American architecture has been compared to that of Pugin in England, and he became, paradoxically, probably the most distinguished of Peniston's architectural correspondents.

A majority of the business letters refer to the activities of tradesmen, their shortcomings greatly outnumbering their positive qualities. Peniston's chief complaints were of late delivery, shoddy workmanship, time-wasting, and failure to understand or follow plans. His most effective retaliation was to delay payment, a punishment which he often administered with relish, and occasionally with sarcasm (451). But it is in the nature of his business that letters about tradesmen were usually only required when matters had gone wrong, so that the collection as a whole places the building trade of the 1820s in an unrepresentively poor light. Accolades may be found among the brickbats (e.g. 696), and by references and recommendations Peniston frequently strove to advance the careers of good workmen.

THE ARCHITECTURAL PRACTICE

In April 1824 a letter to Mr Watson (39) gives the first indication that Peniston was undertaking work for Lord Palmerston, the future prime minister, at his country home, Broadlands near Romsey. This particular letter concerns, typically, the coach-house and brewhouse. Most of his work on large and sometimes grand houses was mundane improvement. At Broadlands it continued throughout the period covered by this volume, concluding (1432) with a suggested solution to rising damp in the vestibule.

Peniston undertook other work for Lord Palmerston around his estate. A major project was Romsey National school, which permitted a rare excursion into style, with the observation that to use the Doric plan would be more costly (200). Six plans were enclosed, and it may be supposed that they were standards from a pattern book. Work on building the school was slow because there were litigious neighbours involved, and a committee. In all, some twenty letters relate to the work, including a request for prices for 'best memel inferior timber', from Richard Eldridge, a Southampton merchant, with whom Peniston regularly conducted business. That letter (193) also reveals another project to build some cottages, which in all other respects seems to have been progressing without the necessity for letters.
More modest than Broadlands, Langdown House at Hythe, beside Southampton Water, typifies Peniston’s routine work. Dealings with the owner, Miss Mary Tate, started with a visit to her arranged in December 1825 (358), and the alterations were then outlined in March 1826 (404). Here as elsewhere they included the installation of water closets for the first time, and he wrote to her in London in April (412) about attaching one en suite to her bedroom. The closet proved troublesome, and in January 1827 Peniston discussed possible solutions with a Southampton plumber (498). Their suggestions presumably worked as there are no further letters on the subject.

The fullest, and somewhat unusual, description in these letters of work on a major property is that for Clarendon House, near Salisbury. In this case Peniston wrote frequently and in detail to the owner, Sir William Freemantle, often in London but sometimes in Brighton or Dorset, or to his steward Mr Webb. This is because, reluctantly, he was directing the work himself as principal contractor, and exposing himself to financial risk. In May 1828 he wrote (754) that he would be pleased to direct the work, but had for some years declined the building business himself. By June he was sending specifications and estimates (771), and in August expressed a preference to engage tradesmen rather than contract for the work himself (827). By October he had been prevailed upon to offer to do the whole job of alteration, repair and building for £8,000 (867). This included a conservatory, which generated a complete correspondence in itself with Messrs Jones and Clark, metallic hot-house manufacturers of Birmingham, who had earlier supplied a conservatory for Norman Court at West Tytherley.

During the span of this volume nearly eighty letters were generated about the Clarendon work, covering a multitude of problems and arrangements. The furniture had to be moved and stored (890), a workman fell from the roof and was taken to Salisbury Infirmary (954); we learn how many coats of paint were to be applied to a door (1332), how the brewing machinery and billiard table were to be installed (e.g. 1210, 1273), and about bells and clocks (1252).

Sir William Freemantle was not the easiest client, and had to be told firmly that it was too late to change the layout of the basement to the offices once the structure had reached the first floor (988). Much of the work, at Clarendon as elsewhere, involved ‘offices’, and after all the effort recorded it is rather sad to find it dismissed by Nikolaus Pevsner as a large nineteenth-century service wing, which may be demolished, and a disappointing interior, largely remodelled in the early nineteenth century.3

Apart from country houses, and smaller domestic projects, such as work on parsonage houses at Wyllye, Hindon, and Great Wishford, and the terrace - De Vaux Place, Salisbury - in which the Peniston family themselves lived, the architectural practice embraced a great variety of building work. Peniston was involved, with Thomas Hopper, in work on remodelling Salisbury Council House (the present Guildhall), and his expertise was called upon when problems arose at Shaftesbury Town Hall (480), the Dorset County Asylum (1586, 1594), and Salisbury Infirmary (97). Tollhouses (1208-9, 1687), a Wesleyan chapel (768, etc), farm buildings (244, 726), an ice-house (156, etc), water-meadow hatches (1111), a public house (3-4, etc), and a malt house (481), were all premises which he planned or surveyed.

The period covered by the letters calendared in this volume, 1823-30, preceded the wholesale restoration and rebuilding of Anglican churches. Later, in 1831-2, Peniston's work as a surveyor becomes apparent as soon as the letter-books begin. In November 1823 a letter to Rev Frederick Williams of Great Wishford (5) introduces the subject of clerical dilapidations, without here actually using the term. Assessing the amounts due for repairs from an outgoing to a new incumbent was a routine task, and surveying Anglican parsonages was clearly useful bread-and-butter work for the practice. In the letters Peniston often acknowledged being recommended for such work, and almost all index entries to clergymen lead to dilapidations. Most were dealt with rapidly, and occur in the letter-books only because the agreed sum had to be reported to a distant client. In some instances, including Great Wishford, the commission led to further work, such as refurbishment of the rectory house.

Also in November 1823 we find four letters (7-10) which concern Peniston’s formal appointment as Wiltshire County Surveyor, a post which he had held for eighteen months, and which he and his family continued to occupy until 1864. The County Surveyor was responsible to Quarter Sessions for the repair and maintenance of ‘county’ bridges (those on main roads), and short sections of road on either side leading up to them. The supervision of refractory and sometimes incompetent contractors employed on county bridges compelled Peniston to undertake considerable travel, and to pen some entertainingly exasperated correspondence (e.g. 1134, 1567).

Apart from bridges the County Surveyor’s other principal responsibility was towards the few buildings maintained by the county authority. In practice this meant the prisons at Fisherton (Salisbury), Marlborough and Devizes. Devizes new prison (also referred to as the gaol, house of correction, and penitentiary) had opened in 1817, five years before Peniston’s appointment, and nearly forty letters relate to it, including a series devoted to the operation and ventilation of its notorious treadmill. A letter to Hopper in January 1830 (1248) about enlarging the prison wryly noted that ‘the march of intellect’ had produced ‘more candidates for admission at the Devizes college than the present establishment can conveniently accommodate’. Peniston’s experiences less than a year later might have made him less inclined to joke about the prison population.

THE WILTSHIRE YEOMANRY CAVALRY

In January 1825 occurs the first, somewhat oblique, reference to Peniston’s role in the local yeomanry regiment (187). It is difficult to imagine in what other capacity he might have requested the loan of six carbines.

He had joined the Salisbury Troop of the regiment soon after its formation in 1794, was listed as a sergeant in 1797, when aged about twenty, and became Regimental Sergeant Major in 1809. He was to become a commissioned officer in 1825, and appears in practice to have performed many of the duties of the Adjutant. He was only appointed formally to that post in 1836 on the death of William Pettit. The first reference to the elderly Pettit, in June 1825 requesting extended leave of absence (281), is typical of a situation in which Peniston appears to have been overhauling the regimental administration for many years. Pettit’s absences and shortcomings are more clearly indicated during 1829 and 1830.

Peniston’s involvement has been exceptionally knowledgeable about the actual conduct of affairs in a yeomanry regiment, and a great deal can be reconstructed from the individual letters. His involvement extended as far as ordering buttons from a London manufacturer (1664), and making complaint about a defect in the shakos supplied by a firm of army saddlers (1660). His letter of December 1830 to Berkeley Portman (1665), offering advice about establishing yeomanry troops in Dorset, is particularly illuminating about the actual, rather than the officially perceived, operation of the regiment.
The significant sequence of letters in November 1830 (1625-9, 1634, 1636-41, all transcribed in full) suggests that Peniston played an even stronger central role in the yeomanry at a time when there were well founded fears of popular uprising and revolution. Within the space of six days he was the person responding to information and taking the initiative in calling out his own Salisbury Troop, guiding his noble superiors, setting out a plan for the deployment of all the troops throughout the county, riding with his own troop for two days, commanding overnight a detached element at West Park, Rockbourne, as well as dealing with minutiae such as finding six pistols for the Hindon Troop - while all the time recording events in the lengthy fashion which reflected the delicacy of his position. However, he had been in a similar position before, precisely ten years earlier. This was during a riot in Salisbury in November 1820, provoked by the Earl of Liverpool's perceived leniency towards Queen Caroline.

That he was not always well disposed towards his military colleagues is revealed in an unguarded letter to an old friend (866). The letter also provides rare evidence of his physical state: aged about fifty, he wrote that he was becoming weighty, although the sixteen stone his horse had to carry presumably included his cavalry accoutrements. In later years occasional references to illness, generally gout, become more frequent, and this affliction was often given as the reason for delay.

ROMAN CATHOLICISM

Letters written during 1826 contain many of the references to Peniston's involvement with the affairs of his co-religionists. The correspondence was triggered by the illness and death of the Salisbury Catholic community's priest, Rev Nicholas Begin, a Frenchman who had ministered in the city since 1796. The settlement of his estate and the financing of a successor found Peniston acting as the community's spokesman. During Begin's terminal illness, in March 1826, he dealt with relatives from France (391), and kept the Catholic hierarchy informed, while trying to calculate how the community might support an English priest to replace him (398). The succession had been resolved by January 1827, and Peniston wrote to thank Bishop Collingridge for appointing Rev O'Connor to the Salisbury mission (497).

Begin's estate was a more intractable problem. Incidental references (443, 507) reveal that in July 1826 and February 1827 Peniston paid visits to Paris. This was no light undertaking, especially the latter journey in winter, and the timing suggests that his main purpose was to try to resolve Begin's affairs. A letter to Begin's niece in France in August 1827 (622) reveals the extent of the problem - he had died owing nearly £500; and the debt had still not been settled when the matter passed out of the correspondence in November 1828 (889).

In France Peniston had several contacts, including an apparently close family friend, the wine exporter J.H. Gillo, from whom he made purchases for connoisseurs among the local gentry (507, etc). To Gillo he transmitted news of Catholic families in Salisbury, including the Harringtons. The death in 1828 (850) of his friend Thomas Harrington, landlord of the Black Horse Inn, committed Peniston to further vexatious financial business. Harrington died insolvent, as it transpired, and Peniston was executor of his estate, a task made more difficult by the profligate habits of his widow (1558, etc).
Occasional letters inform us of other Catholic contacts. There is a reference to the Jesuit college in Lancashire, Stonyhurst, where one of Peniston's sons boarded, and from which - as sons do - he failed to write (667). This was probably James William Peniston, his second son, then eighteen years old, who subsequently trained in Rome and entered the Jesuit priesthood in 1838. Peniston maintained close links with the community at Wardour and its priest Richard Parker, helping where he could to solve problems (619), or advance individual careers (825). Controversy over the passage of the Catholic Relief Bill in March and April 1829 saw him organizing a counter-petition against Anti-Catholic propaganda in Wiltshire (990-1), and the pleasure felt in 'becoming really a free man' was expressed to John Benett the following year (1253).

TRANSPORT AND COMMUNICATION

Peniston travelled extensively about Wiltshire and beyond. He sent and received letters and packets, arranged and attended meetings, and ordered building materials and other goods, to be delivered by waggon, or by sea via Southampton or Poole.

He sometimes indicated when he himself intended to travel by stagecoach or hired chaise, but by implication more generally he travelled on horseback. In 1828 he wrote to a friend in Dorchester asking him to look out for a horse to replace his 'old charger' (866). A significant proportion of his letters deal with arrangements to meet clients, professional colleagues or tradesmen, and he usually stipulated that he would be in a particular village, house or inn on a specific day, rarely more precisely than in the morning or afternoon.

There was routine use of the postal system, which could generally be relied upon to deliver a prompt service. Sequences of dates on successive letters to particular individuals indicate exchanges within a day or two. 'Franks', or envelopes countersigned by an M.P. or other privileged person entitled to free use of the postal service, were obtained whenever possible; and packets 'too heavy for a frank' might be sent by coach or carrier. References to the postal system often reflect the sender's failure to pay postage (586, 1382), and in one instance Peniston refused to pay what he considered an exorbitant charge (1358).

Travel by stagecoach, for those accustomed to it, was straightforward and routine.
Frustrations and delays occurred sporadically, but in general these resulted from the impossibility of communicating quickly a change of plan (1025, 1544) rather than from unreliability. As a seasoned passenger Peniston sometimes gave advice about stagecoach routes (265, 1472), although for a distant journey he sought advice himself (893).

Some of the new features to be installed in the larger houses, such as water closets, brewing machinery, and cast iron conservatories, together with specialist materials, including high quality plaster, mastic, roman cement and wallpaper, had to be conveyed from London or Birmingham. Timber was ordered from importers at Southampton, and mastic and other materials were also shipped to Southampton or Poole. The Kennet and Avon Canal was used to bring timber from Bath to Devizes (1606). Inevitably the carriage of materials occurs in letters most often when arrangements went wrong. The conservatory for Norman Court was delayed while on its way from Birmingham via Southampton (348, cf. 1046). A Salisbury carrier refused to handle certain items (354). Inadequate packing or inept handling jeopardized the safety of window frames (356) and chimney pieces (1199). Conversely, the routine carriage of local materials – brick, stone, timber – rarely generated correspondence, unless there was some exceptional circumstance, such as a queue of carts waiting at a brickworks (1112).

FAMILY AND PERSONAL

The Penistons were a prominent and what would today be called an upwardly mobile Catholic family in south Wiltshire during the last decades of the eighteenth century and for much of the nineteenth. Thomas Peniston was 'director of the bricklayers' at New Wardour Castle, near Tisbury, during its construction between 1770 and 1776. His son John Peniston, the subject of this volume, practised as a professional man in the various spheres already described until his death in 1848 at the age of seventy.

John and his wife Sarah had five sons and five daughters between 1807 and 1822, but domestic matters intrude only slightly into the correspondence. To old colleagues there was the occasional expression of good wishes, and sometimes Mrs Peniston was associated in these. There is a more substantive reference to her when he congratulates a colleague's son on his marriage and hopes that it will be as happy as his own (1364). On a very few occasions she replied to letters in his absence or undertook errands (e.g. 990-1).

Their eldest son, John Michael Peniston, is the only family member to figure prominently in the correspondence. He followed his father into the architectural practice, succeeded him as County Surveyor for Wiltshire, and became active in the Yeomanry. He died suddenly in May 1858, while officiating as Regimental Sergeant Major at the annual regimental camp, and while still fully in control of affairs. His eldest surviving son, Henry Peniston, appears to have inherited the business and, briefly, the public appointments; but the surviving letter-books end seven months later in December 1858.

John Michael was only seventeen years old when he first occurs in the letter-book in April 1824 (40), making sketches of doors for Great Wishford rectory. By December 1824 he was writing to a supplier, very briefly and correctly, on his father's behalf (177). Thereafter he occurs sporadically, assisting in the business, until May 1828 when he travelled to London to work as an assistant in Thomas Hopper's office (755). He appears to have been involved there in drawing up plans to alter Salisbury Council House, and acted as intermediary between Hopper and his father in Salisbury. His sojourn in London was brief, however (tension with his father over the matter is apparent in 778), and by the end of the year he was back in Salisbury. Thereafter his role in the family business increased, and in the course of a frantically busy period through much of 1830 he was acting as his father's deputy during frequent absences and indispositions.

Other sons are less clearly visible in the letters. James William (born 1809), who entered the priesthood, was probably the son who failed to write home from Stonyhurst. George Augustus (born 1810) went with John Michael to London in 1828 and shared lodgings with him while working for a carpenter and joiner (745). He subsequently lost his chest during a journey to North Wales (893-4, 909-10), and was apparently working away from home during 1829 and 1830 (918, 1585). William Michael (born 1814) was studying in his father's office in 1829, while attending Henry Hatcher's school for mathematics (951). One undated letter, probably of October 1829 (1178), is signed by him, but may merely be a doodle. In May 1830 he was packed off to London to work for the Pimlico engineer, Timothy Bramah, with whom his father had a longstanding business connection and personal friendship (1351, 1358-9, etc).

Peniston's daughters do not figure at all in the correspondence, apart from a single reference to 'Ellen' (Eleanora Arundell, born 1812). In this letter (1025) Ellen and other family members all seem to contribute to a confusing situation that provokes from Peniston a caustic but affectionate observation about the paucity of brains in his family.

The only other allusions to Peniston's family occur when he had to distance himself from cousins or other relatives working in Salisbury. In 1825 a matter relating to the 'late firm of Peniston and Co' was redirected to William or James Peniston (293). In 1828 a regular supplier was asked to distinguish him from his cousin James of the City of Salisbury, not the Close (763). And in 1830 a client was reminded to address letters to Peniston in the Close, so as not to be confused with a relative who was a builder (1252).

THE DOCUMENTS

When the letter-books begin Peniston had been in business for many years, but appears previously not to have recorded his correspondence in this way, as the title to the first gathering (see below) implies. With a few exceptions written from memory afterwards (e.g. 848), the letter-books appear to consist of verbatim copies, by Peniston or assistants, made before the letters were sent. Several different hands may be identified, written with varying degrees of legibility and haste; and occasional mistakes in transcription are apparent (e.g. 798).

The letters calendared here are contained in two paper volumes, bound in original nineteenth-century card covers. They are deposited in the Wiltshire Record Office, with call numbers WRO 451/58 and WRO 451/59, and are part of a collection transferred from Salisbury Diocesan Registry. How they, and other Peniston material, came to be in the registry is uncertain, but it is possible that they were once in the care of a solicitor's practice which also acted as diocesan registrar. The earlier, volume (WRO 451/58) includes letters from October 1823 to 29 August 1827, here numbered 1-622. The later volume (WRO 451/59) begins on 1 September 1827 (letter 623), and continues beyond the span of this edition, to 9 September 1833.

WRO 451/58 is an ungainly volume, made up of five sections of differing length and page size, which prior to their binding together were regarded as separate letter-books, and numbered 1-5 accordingly. Dimensions (height before width), number of pages, dates and letter numbers (in this edition) are as follows: 1. 19.5 x 16cm, 52pp, Oct. 1823 to 25 March 1824, 1-36; 2. 24 x 19cm, 52pp, 1 April 1824 to 26 Aug 1824, 37-95; 3. 21 x 27cm, 94pp, 27 Aug 1824 to 7 Feb 1825, 96-197; 4. 20 x 16.3cm, 336pp, 13 Feb 1825 to 11 Jan 1827, 200-484; 5. 21 x 27cm, 94pp, 8 Dec 1826 to 29 Aug 1827, 485-622. Neither pages nor letters are numbered. The longest book, number 4, is in fact made up of ten gatherings, some of which had previously been ruled and used for accounts, 1811-22. The letters are fitted in wherever space was available. The first page of book 2 is taken up with a mathematical calculation.
INTRODUCTION

WRO 451/59 is more uniform in character, and seems to be made up of a further six letter-books, each of three gatherings, 43 x 27cm. The gatherings vary in length from about 18-40 pages each. Letters written between 6 Oct 1828 and 20 Nov 1828 (869-904), were copied into another, smaller gathering (18.5 x 24cm), which was probably regarded as a separate letter-book, and was subsequently bound with the others in its correct place. Thus these letter-books would have been numbered 6-12, but only the front cover of number 11 survives, and this is inscribed 'Letter Book no. 11 from May 11 1831 – May 11 1832'. During 1830 a tally was begun of the number of letters written, and from 30 Sept. 1830 (1559) the letters were numbered consecutively (see 1695, note 1). This numbering had reached 393 by 11 May 1831, when book 10 ends, and was continued through subsequent books.

EDITORIAL NOTE

This edition offers a brief calendar of all the letters copied into WRO 451/58-9 until the end of 1830, with transcripts or partial transcripts of selected letters of particular interest. Significant place and personal names mentioned in the letters are included in the calendar, and are indexed. There is a separate index of selected subjects. Supplied matter, editorial or textual, has been introduced into the calendar in italics enclosed within square brackets, or as footnotes. Original spellings and (generally) titles of personal names have been retained, but most place names have been printed in their modern form. Unusual or aberrant spellings of identifiable place names have been printed, in round brackets, after the modern form of the name. The index frequently supplies additional information about persons and places, not given in the calendar.

Letters, except where noted, are presented in the order in which they appear in the document, and each has been given a separate entry. The form of entry is as follows: entry number, date of letter, name and address of recipient; summary of letter; footnotes. Where letters or portions of letters are transcribed in full this fact is signified by enclosing the transcript within single quotes. The punctuation within transcribed passages has been modernized. The character of letters not transcribed has been retained, where possible, in the summary by the retention of significant phrases and expressions. Many of the sources cited in footnotes have been abbreviated; a list of abbreviations precedes this introduction.

1. Letter begins, 'My Lord', thus to Lord Palmerston.
Acknowledges that the Clerk of Works at Lacock is not satisfied with preparations by the masons for work at Tytherton Kellaway Bridge. Will express an opinion without committing the county to any responsibility for the bridge. Offers advice, including that new stone should be attached to the existing piers by cramps secured with melted lead or roman cement. Clerk of Works may visit once or twice if expenses are

¹ Written from Wardour. The trust is presumably Maud Heath’s Charity.

Confirms that he may supervise at Tytherton provided there is no expense to the

Discusses alterations to the stable front. Will prepare plan for the water closet.¹

Asks for receipts for payments for work at Cow Bridge [Malmesbury].

320 13 Sept. 1825. Mr Strong, Pewsey.
Asks for bills for work on Pewsey Bridge. Has no order to work on the adjoining road and hopes that, although the county have adopted it, the commissioners will not be so morally unjust as to insist. If they do, the least amount of work is to be done until he can visit and settle matters.

321 17 Sept. 1825.¹ Mr Watson, Broadlands.
Will direct Lane to send a plasterer to Broadlands.

¹ MS 27 Sept, but letter seems to predate 327, therefore 17 is probably intended.

323 17 Sept. 1825. Timothy Bramah Esq, Pimlico. Discusses the ice house at Burgate. Considers the failure due to filling it with skimmings of the lightest frost which could not be expected to preserve itself. However he will examine the structure again as Mr Coventry asked. Encloses cheque which he had carried to London but had not had time to deliver.

324 17 Sept. 1825. Mr Wells. Asks him to send George Golding to put in the floor joists at Fisherton.

325 [undated]. [addressee not stated]. Request for accounts.

328 19 Sept. 1825. [addressee not stated]. Advises that, although rather late in the season, Mr Coventry's garden walls [at Burgate] could be pointed with a very well prepared mixture of one third cement, two thirds mortar and the cleanest sharp sand.

329 20 Sept. 1825. Mr Crook. Request for bills.

Forwards letter from Mrs Adams of Christchurch.

1. Mrs Adams's letter is dated 26 Sept., so this must be later.

333  [undated]. [address not stated].
Has sent her letter about removing the conservatory to Mr Coventry.

1. Mrs Adams's letter is dated 26 Sept., so this must be later.
2. To Mrs Adams, Christchurch. See 332.

Revised estimate for the school¹ is not less than £750 to £800. Suggests that, as funds may be limited, it should be put to public tender.

1. At Romsey. See 462, 465.

Has established that Messrs Tinney and Cobb are asking £950 for Mr Blatch's house. Considers this to be excessive [see 343].

1. To Mrs Adams, Christchurch. See 332, 333.

As Cornet of the Salisbury Troop, Wiltshire Yeomanry Cavalry, certifies attendance at the muster for six days in succession during the year to April 1825.
339 [undated]. John Penn Esq, engineer and millwright, Greenwich.
Acknowledges a letter which had abated comment at Quarter Sessions about the series of procrastinations. His own illness will cause absence from business for a time. Has replaced Buckley, the carpenter, who had been under restraint many months with little prospect of amendment. The new industrious and well disposed man will execute any work connected with the machinery which does not come within Penn's contract.

1. At Devizes Penitentiary. See 225.

340 19 Oct. 1825. Mr Henry King, Chilmark.
Acknowledges account of dilapidations to bridge at Fonthill Bishop. Expects that Quarter Sessions will order repairs.

Has met Mr Hopgood at Durrington. They agreed that the work by Mr William Warren was improperly or insufficiently executed and the contract sum should be reduced by £50 4s. 3d.

342 [undated]. Hon John Coventry jun, Burgate Cottage.
Thinks it unnecessary for Mr Bramah to inspect the ice house. The same problem had been found elsewhere. Care must be taken when packing the house to break the ice into small pieces, then compact it with wooden hammers.

Regrets that Mr Tinney has misunderstood offer [see 335] on behalf of Mr Baker about fixtures. Has told Mr Cobb he would recommend £850, to include such fixtures as grates, coppers etc. If they are to be valued separately the offer is only £800.

344 [undated]. Mr J Hopgood, surveyor, Andover.
Arranges to survey a house at Durrington for Mr Swayne.

345 10 Nov. 1825. Mr Watson, Broadlands.

346 10 Nov. 1825. Benjamin Wingrove Esq, Road Office, Bath.
The account for work on bridge roads was too late for last year's settlement but will apply for money on account at the next sessions. The court had refused to raise the pathway of Bradford Bridge. Repairs should be made.
347 12 Nov. 1825. Mr Hughes, Devizes.
Asks for a large cart with two horses to collect window frames and other items.

1. J M Peniston writes on behalf of his father, who is not yet quite well.

348 [undated]. Mr Jones.
Conveys Mr Wall’s decision to have the conservatory erected as soon as possible. Has written to Messrs Hobbs and Hellyre at Redbridge but they have no knowledge of the packages. Explanation may lie in their recent bankruptcy and derangement in the sailing of their vessel.

1. At Norman Court. See 297.

349 21 Nov. 1825. Mr Watson.
Did not have time to analyse the bills while at Broadlands but has now done so. Comments on a mass of errors. Lead should not be moved in or out of Lord Palmerston’s premises without being weighed. Makes several queries. Marsh not to be questioned and Lord Palmerston to be shown the letter.

1. MS 'Tuesday morn', undated.

353 22 Nov. 1825. Mr Collman, carpenter, Ringwood.
Arranges to meet to examine thatch work at Ellingham.

354 22 Nov. 1825. [addressee not stated].
Explains delays. The cart had left the Plume of Feathers at 12 o’clock but the carrier had refused some articles and another would be found. The order is finished except for the sash of the drawing room which awaits a metal bar from Bath.

1. Probably William Hughes. See 356.
2. Probably Salisbury: F.
355 23 Nov. 1825. Mrs Hellyre, Redbridge.
Mr Wall will send his own teams for the packages for Norman Court.

356 27 Nov. 1825. William Hughes Esq.
The drawing room window cannot be sent because the metal bar has not arrived. Base mouldings for the dining and drawing rooms have been transposed. Fears that there is a disposition to mistakes. Packing boards had been returned damaged by nailing them together. The glass should be ready soon. Will be in Devizes shortly.

357 2 Dec. 1825. Charles Millet Esq.
Copies calculations for extensive repairs to the house at Ludgershall and the erection of a coach house, wash house and pantry. Can re-use some material. Cost will be £108 4s. Apologizes for delay but has been indisposed.

358 2 Dec. 1825. Miss Tate, Langdown, Southampton.
Arranges to visit.

Regrets delay and sends certificate of dilapidations at Rockbourne for £99 15s. 3d., dated 20 May 1824. Did not separate the chancel as this was unusual.

Dilapidations for the chancel amount to £8 2s. 6d.

366 [undated]. Mr Buckland.
Has been authorised by Mr Harris to sell the house for £450.

Is annoyed by the delay to the drawing room sash caused because the metal bar has not arrived from Stillman of Bath, who may be haunted. The glass is ready. The delay of the window linings is the fault of the carriers who ought to pay for them.

368 16 Dec. 1825. Mr Banks.
Is ready to pay £69 16s. 10d. for masonry, cartage and carpentry involved in the repairs to Foot Bridge at Lacock. Blackham will be paid £8 5s. 6d. for digging clay and £6 9s. for beer for workmen.

369 16 Dec. 1825. Mr R Hulbert, Pickwick, near Chippenham.
Informs the Commissioners of Corsham and Lacock Turnpike that he will survey Lacock Bridge and report at the sessions.

370 19 Dec. 1825. [addressee not stated].
Considers that the county has the same rights under the Act to raise stone as the Commissioners. Litigation is inadvisable and while doubts exist between the Commissioners and landowners the county should not interfere. Would want to take advantage of the judgement as road repair is heavy and obnoxious to the county.

371 22 Dec. 1825. [addressee not stated].
The bar has arrived and the frames will be ready. The glass and glazier can follow.

372 24 Dec. 1825. [addressee not stated].
Encloses cheque for £84 11s 4d. Intends inspecting the new bridge [Lacock, Foot Bridge] and reporting to the sessions.

374 27 Dec. 1825. Mr Haywood, Governor of the Penitentiary, Devizes.
Cannot pay bills without a personal examination. Will be in Devizes to measure the mill house, which should be closed as soon as possible. Will have Wells with him, and Buckley had better attend and prepare two five foot measuring rods.
Repairs to the house and offices would cost £64 11s 6d. Reference to Inwood's Tables (the best published) gives a life of 65 to be at 4% equalling 7½ years' purchase.

376 24 Jan. 1826. Mr Watson.
[Broadlands]: Has inspected and returns the bills of Lord Palmerston. Lengthy comment including an overcharge for the use of heavy iron.

Has reported his letter at the last Sessions.

15 March 1826. Rt Rev Dr Baines, Bathampton.
The [Salisbury] congregation can collect about forty pounds a year. Doubts if that will be sufficient unless the presence of an English priest attracts more Catholic families to settle. There would also be rent on chapel property after meeting Mr Begin's claims and the £400 borrowed on the property. Mr Begin lingers on. Mr Parker had visited from Wardour and administered the sacrament to him.

Reports that Mr Begin has died. Claims will be settled by the trustees but matters will be delayed.
400 18 March 1826. [addressee not stated].
Confirms that dilapidations at Bradford Abbas were only for the vicarage, and the gates and fences of the glebe land. Chancel repairs devolved on the Marquess of was £9 14s.

29 Sept. 1826. Henry Holmes, Romsey.
Cannot meet his wishes by reporting to his noble employer that it is too late in the year to comply with his directions respecting the schoolroom. However, by choice he should prefer a postponement until spring. Regrets the actions of the Methodists, and feels that he has incurred odium almost on every side. Suggests that Lord Palmerston be told of the problem in the hope that he might postpone his intentions until spring.

Reports on work in progress at the intended Town Hall at Shaftesbury. Explains why a pier has given way and how it can be repaired. Has discussed estimates and conduct of the work with Mr Down. The brickwork is safe but of poor appearance. The building has been extended to include a water closet. The specification should be amended to enable Earl Grosvenor's agent to measure and value the building when completed. Mr Down should be allowed to proceed with the work. Prices need to be checked. One of the two smiths has overcharged for work. Lead for cramping stonework has been overcharged. Use of roman cement would save money. Masonry should be offered to competition as custom sanctioned an abominable fraud in calculating the perch at 15 instead of 16\(\frac{3}{4}\) feet. All those concerned were accustomed to employment by Lord Grosvenor and dependent on him. However costs should be controlled.

Report on house and remains of a malthouse at Tisbury owned by Mrs Alford.

492 23 Dec. 1826. C Baring Wall Esq, MP, Norman Court.

497  15 Jan. 1827. The Right Rev Dr Collingridge.
'My Lord. I feel somewhat ashamed in not having earlier offered the most grateful acknowledgements of our congregation to your Lordship for the appointment of the Rev Mr O’Connor to this mission. He is indeed my Lord everything we could have desired and more than we were entitled to expect. I sincerely hope we shall prove our gratitude by our conduct and become worthy of the blessing and advantages we at present enjoy. '
'I begin to hope my Lord that though we cannot raise a fund adequate either to our wishes or the merits of Mr O’Connor it may by the aid of kind friends suffice for his support. The subscriptions of the resident congregation somewhat exceeds fifty pounds, Mr Bowles says that he is certain my Lord Arundell will continue his £20 and the Rev Mr Parker states that Stonyhurst will not withdraw its ten pounds a year. We have also been fortunate in receiving some donations and have reason to expect to add somewhat to the permanent income when poor Mr Begin’s affairs are settled and the houses let - that which he last occupied is still unoccupied. It would be a very desirable situation for a catholic family if we could be so fortunate as to find one of respectability that would not only add to our numbers but contribute to the support of our pastor. '
'We make monthly collections to meet the contingent expenses of the chapel and have reason to hope they will be sufficient to meet the demands. 'I do not know whether I should intrude upon your lordship by entering on the business of the chapel property as connected with the late Revd Mr Begin. I wait your permission to do so and remain with the highest respects, My Lord, Your Lordship’s obedient servant, J Peniston.'

Encloses cheque.

Agrees that a smith's bill is extravagant but does not know how to comment and will discuss it during a forthcoming visit.

[Grimstead]: Has been waiting for money from Tubb before it could be remitted to his lordship's bankers. Tubb promises well but does not always perform and he is loath to have recourse to severe measures.

Arranges to visit.

506 7 Feb. 1827. Mr John Burn, wine merchant, 113 High Street, Southampton.
Encloses a cheque for £7 4s. 0d. The hampers and bottles will be returned in a few days.

507 9 Feb. 1827. [addressee not stated].
'Dear Gillo, I am requested Col Baker, our ci-devant captain, to write to you on the subject of your St George wine. He has drunk some at Dr Fowler's and is anxious to have a hogshead of the same class, but trebly anxious to have it very very good - but joking apart it may be worth your while to endeavour to please his palate he being considered a judge of wine of the first water, and if he pronounces it a fit beverage for persons comme il faut it may lead. You will conclude by seeing no more of me at Havre that I returned by another route. It was so, after spending a busy and very delightful week at Paris I returned via Boulogne. I very much regretted not having seen James Weeks. When you see him present my best regards and say when next I visit France (which if I live a few years is not very impossible) it shall go hard but I shake him by the hand. Present my respectful regards to Mr Moss and your better half though unknown. Vide Hayden. The Weeks family are all well - Harrington's also. Poor Hyde who is still at Whitchurch is suffering from a periodical attack of erysipelas [sic], but we hope he is getting better. Mrs P. and family I thank God pretty well. They unite in best regards to you and yours. Dear Gillo, yours very sincerely, J Peniston.

Has been requested by Mr Coventry to look at a grate at Burgate House with reference to the unreasonable bill. Discusses the work recorded and recommends that if the parts totalling £7 6s. 5d. are deducted he will recommend Mr Coventry to pay it, receiving the usual discount for prompt payment.

Asks for details of accounts and travel expenses. Regrets having to ask but between the magistrates, the clerk to the peace and the late poor governor, the originals are mislaid.

512 17 Feb. 1827. [addressee not stated].
Is not satisfied with a further letter and will recommend Mr Coventry to refer the correspondence to his solicitor.

1. Presumably to Mr Hugh Beavan. See 511, 513.

Will hold the letter to Mr Beavan until the post time on the following day in case Mr Coventry feels it to be too strong.

515 25 Feb. 1827. C Baring Wall Esq M.P., Berkeley Square, London. Remains assured in his opinion of the previous day that the cost of painting was considered included in the settlement of December 1822. Will refer to the papers connected with the claim when he returns home.

26 March 1827. Edward Baker Esq M.P., House of Commons, London. Has a reply from Mr Gillo that he will send the best sample of the St George wine the country can produce. Can get no reply from Mr Garbett and may request the Rev Mr Baker to write to the principal.

26 March 1827. William Garbett Esq, architect, Winchester. Regrets to trouble him about the Wylye dilapidation, but his principal cannot safely begin pulling down the old house until the business is settled.
531 30 March 1827. Rev Joah Furey.
Asks if the Rev Mr Evans still wishes to take Burgate Cottage.¹

1. A page of Grimstead rentals, 1818-23, intervenes in the MS between this and the following letter.

'When I had the honor of last writing you [538] I mentioned that I had proposed meeting Mr Garbett at Romsey yesterday. Receiving no answer to my letter [537] requesting that meeting, anxious to conclude the business, and knowing that I should be engaged the whole of the ensuing week in Dorsetshire, I determined to seek the lion in his den. I therefore went yesterday to Winchester, concluding if he had been from home he would be likely to return the last day of the week. I was fortunate for after waiting a few hours I caught him on his return, and after a somewhat animated discussion, concluded with him at the sum of £753 2s. 0d. This if not quite equal to my wishes is fully equal to my expectations and I hope will prove satisfactory.'

He has long employed the bricklayer, and the carpenter is the parish clerk. Agrees that the present tenants are anything but eligible but has heard that they intend leaving at Michaelmas. Expects no difficulty in finding a respectable tenant but needs to know what Mr Parr’s views are about occasional residence before any offer is made. Explains that he acts as a general agent and will have great pleasure in being of service, but does not profess to have a knowledge of lands and is perfectly incompetent to ascertain the value of tithes.

549 28 April 1827. William Garbett Esq, architect, Winchester. Proposes meeting at the Pelican Inn, Newbury. The business cannot be postponed because the sheriff is coming from Wokingham (Oakingham), and the dilapidations have to be gone into, as their evidence will be required for the jury.

9 May 1827. Mr Wing, Burgate Farm.
Thinks the annual rent for Burgate Cottage, garden and offices should be £30. The furniture should be valued and the land and homestead adjoining would be additional.

10 May 1827. William Garbett Esq, architect, Winchester.
The coincidence of their amounts is almost as extraordinary as the pacing and measurement. Makes £179 19s 2d on first going through. Has not heard from Mr Gale but has little expectation of settling without reference to a third party.

12 May 1827. Mr Penn, engineer, Greenwich.

'Dear Gillo, Dr Fowler has requested me to desire you will forward a hogshead of the genuine St George for Mr McAdam a descendant of the Collosus of Roads. I will also thank you at the same time to send the same measure for myself. I have got another order from an old acquaintance of yours, the Revd Henry Boucher who wishes you to send him. I have, to guard against mistakes, transcribed that part of Mr Boucher's letter referring to the wines and hope it may lead to more extensive orders the Dorsetshire gentry being rather bon vivants. I shall feel obliged if you will tell me how best to manage the wine (when I get it), whether it may be drank from the wood or how long it should remain in bottle. I have little news to send you. The Weeks's, Harringtons and my own family are, I thank God, well. With best respects to your better half, I remain my dear Gillo very faithfully yours.'

The foregoing is the whole of his letter on the subject. I immediately wrote him requesting most urgently that he would by return of post send me a copy of his award, stating that if he felt it necessary he might send it on a stamp; also observing that I thought it probable you would require a stamped copy on the part of Mr Raymond, which I considered the terms of the award empowered you to demand.

24 Dec. 1827. John Benett Esq M.P.
[Fonthill Abbey]: 'Sir, I regret that my absence prevented my answering your favour of the 21st earlier. I am completely at a loss to say what price should be fixed for the metallic contents of the fallen tower. It is I take it a species of lottery and I think you had better decline taking any specific sum - but say I am open to receive any tender they may be disposed to offer. But let their proposals be specific as to what they included for their bidding.

'I understand there was the remainsof a lead cistern, pipes, etc in the Fountain Court. Is it intended this is to form a portion of the property to be bid for? The extent of the sum offered will guide my recommendation. Waiting your answer, I am most respectfully your faithful and obedient servant, J Peniston.'

'Sir, Though I expected a treasure in the ruins of the tower I was not prepared for its extent, and though no doubt the party willing to give the sum you state must be well acquainted with its value, I think it too eligible an offer to be refused.

'I will go over to the abbey [Fonthill] on Wednesday next. In the mean time I will thank you to obtain what information you can and tell me with whom I may confer on the subject. I was in Bath last week and being acquainted with Mr G Underwood the architect I have desired him to notify to the builders with whom he is engaged the articles we have to dispose of. In the spring I trust we shall find desirable market. I am, sir, most respectfully your faithful and obedient servant, J Peniston.'

16 April 1828. George Morant, Cliff House, Dorchester.
Discusses arrangements to be made at Blackwater. Has given the bailiff details of items bought at the auction.

16 April 1828. Messrs Chinchen, Swanage, Dorset.
Reminds them about his order for pump troughs [714].

16 April 1828. Hon W S Ponsonby, Canford (Canford) House, Wimborne.
Thinks that the marble chimney pieces at Fonthill Abbey would not be suitable. One heavy moulded large one that had never been fixed might do for an entrance hall or large dining room, but not calculated for apartments of common dimensions.

18 April 1828. Mr Stanford.
'Dear Sir, As the time approaches at which I intend that John shall pay you a visit shall I trespass on your kindness to look out for a lodging somewhere in the neighbourhood of your office where he and his brother may be accommodated [sic]. I should require for them a double bedded room, and a room in which they could take their breakfast, and sit in the evening - their dinner I calculate they will take out. I shall feel greatly indebted by your assistance in this respect, as also if you can aid me in my views for my younger son, which I believe you are aware is to get him into a respectable carpenters' and joiners' shop - and if possible not very far removed from his brother. Wages is a very secondary consideration. I should be very willing to rely on the honor of his employer to allow him whatever he may consider his exertions would fairly entitle him to. I propose if no objections should present themselves to go to town with the boys on Monday fortnight, and shall be happy to hear from you in the intermediate time if you will oblige me by making the enquiries I have requested. I have received Mr Hopper's letter in answer to mine [740], relative to the proposed alterations at the [Salisbury] Council House, and wait the pleasure of seeing him. I am, dear sir, yours very truly, J Peniston.'

2. Probably George Peniston. See 894.
3. MS office, struck through and corrected.

21 April 1828. P M Chitty Esq, Shaftesbury.
Has examined items numbered 1 to 36 and details comments on each about the prices, percentages, measurements and quantities of various building materials.

1. Probably materials salvaged from Fonthill Abbey. See 748.

Will call at the public house in Chilmark on the way to Fonthill Abbey for any message about his wish to have some of the Fonthill flooring.
Will be at Fonthill Abbey and will leave with Jay the prices of the articles for sale.

749 25 April 1828. P M Chitty Esq, Shaftesbury.
Will be at Fonthill Abbey and will then sleep at Wardour and attend the service next morning. Can ride over to Shaftesbury to discuss subject of letters personally.

750 27 April 1828. Mr Stanford.
Confirms lodgings are acceptable and will bring the boys to town.

Acknowledges plans and will be able to discuss them during forthcoming visit to London.

754 5 May 1828. Sir W H Freemantle.
Indisposed and unable to accompany his son to London [see 750]. The latter, who has assisted with the Clarendon plans, would convey them. Will be pleased to direct the work but has for some years declined the building business himself.

755 5 May 1828. Thomas Hopper Esq.
Prevented by his enemy the gout from introducing in person his son John as Hopper's new assistant, but does not want to delay his departure. The building committee are anxious for Mr Hopper's advice in determining their choice. Is in his new house and can offer a bed and hearty welcome, having next claim after Colonel Baker who is absent. Mrs Peniston joins in these sentiments.

1. Regarding Salisbury Council House. See 745.
2. In De Vaux Place, Salisbury. See 732, 734.

Requests that enquiries be made through Mr Jac. Goss, the organist at Chelsea, about the intention of a mad neighbour, Mrs Thomas, who may be selling her property. 14 May 1828. T Sewell, Clerk to the Commissioner of the Highways, Newport, Isle of Wight.

Orders six casks of roman cement. Asks to be distinguished from his cousin James Peniston, who resides in the city of Salisbury, not the Close.
Wishes Crook to do any strictly necessary repairs to Trowbridge Bridge while the water is low. Will meet later to discuss Staverton and Trowle Bridges.

765  [undated]. Hon John Coventry, Burgate House.
Has sent account to Mr Wood and hopes Mr Coventry's return to Burgate has improved his health.

766  [undated]. T Lane Wood Esq, Fordingbridge.
Sends account for work for Mr Coventry.

767  6 June 1828. [addressee not stated].
Reports alarm on the part of a Salisbury builder, Fred Fisher, at London tradesmen being employed in the city.

1. Presumably to Mr Hopper. See 769.

768  9 June 1828. Mr Richard Upjohn, upholsterer, Shaftesbury.
Arranges to meet at Shaftesbury, to complete the measurement of the chapel.

769  10 June 1828. Thomas Atkinson Esq.
Reports that Mr F Fisher has applied to Mr Hopper to be allowed to bid for the work at the Council House. Mr Hopper wishes not to give any offence to the city, and proposes that Fisher submit a sealed bid to Atkinson. Peniston has written to Hopper on the subject [767].

770  4 June 1828. Mr John Ward, Farnham, Surrey.
Cannot help with information about brokers and did not buy on his own account at Farnborough Place.

Encloses specification and estimates. Has not included the scagliola columns which are about £30 each, new. But will have his son in London enquire about any that have been removed and also deliver a sketch of the proposed conservatory. Will then get an estimate from Birmingham.

2. Plasterwork imitating stone, of Italian origin, and fashionable in the early nineteenth century: OED.
772 16 June 1828.. Messrs Harwood and Co, 11 Upper George Street, Portman Square, London.
Orders quantities of paper.

1. sic, cf. 774, where address is Bryanston Square.

Arranges to meet. Regrets there has been dissatisfaction about cost of the meeting house1 compared with estimate.

1. At Shaftesbury. See 768, 780.

Arranges to pay £14 14s. 8d. Explains that this was to paper one of a series of houses Peniston has built and is building on speculation in Salisbury. Any discount should be sent to Mr J M Peniston at No 10 Prince's Street, Cavendish Square.

1. See 772 and note.

Discusses arrangements to consider cost of work on the chapel, and promises to send measurements.

776 18 June 1828. Mr Upjohn, upholsterer, Shaftesbury.
Asks for all bills for the chapel to be sent to Hindon by hand of Mr Payne.

777 16 June 1828. Mr James, Tewkesbury.
'Sir, I have received your letter of the 13th inst. requesting to know if the estate of Harnham can be sold in lots on a long lease. As my nephew, now Captain Born, is expected in England I think the matter had better remain until he arrives, when your letter shall be laid before him. I am obliged by your having made the communication and remain, sir, your most obedient servant, James Meek.'

1. Addressed from Ilfracombe.

Has said all that he intends to say on the subject of his remaining in London and hopes that John will not repent his decision. Has been to the [Salisbury] Council House with Mr F Fisher and the plans prepared by John. Had not told Mr Fisher of the disinclination of the London tradesmen to enter into competition. Discusses details in the plans at length. Two extra columns needed on the principal front.
779 22 June 1828. Mr A Wingrove, surveyor, Trowbridge.
Enquires about work at Farleigh and two other bridges (unspecified), which Crook has been directed to repair. Reply to be sent to the Bear Inn, Devizes.

780 26 June 1828. Rev Richard R Mole, Shaftesbury (Shaston).
Has rechecked the accounts and found a few omissions, but the prices are those to which no regular respectable surveyor would object. Mr Payne acted fairly.

1. For the Shaftesbury Wesleyan chapel. See 775, 799.

Encloses letter from Messrs Tinney and Cobb about an account sent to them by the proprietor of the Grimstead estate, with reference to the agency of the late Mr Wynch. Has attended to these very complicated accounts and hopes the matter is settled. The affairs of the late Mr Wynch wanted for method, and entries tended to be omitted rather than improper. Asks for determination of the matter by his Lordship and the other proprietors.

[Fonthill Abbey]: Offers, on behalf of Mr Benett, ashlar stone at 6d per foot superficial. 'To be taken down from either face of the gallery now standing, but exclusive of the tower part over the sanctuary. Or from the unfurnished part of the building which is over the kitchen, exclusive of the two towers at the external angles.' Does not know quantity of steps under the fallen tower.

1. i.e. per square foot: OED.

783 28 June 1828. Messrs Jones and Clark, metallic hot house manufacturers, Birmingham.
Encloses plan of a south facing building. Asks for a design and price for a conservatory between the wings and in the same style as at Norman Court.

Acknowledges letter and would like to know how work proceeds in order to arrange a visit. Other engagements are pressing. Apologizes for not paying postage on a recent letter.
Postpones a visit in order to be able to meet the Earl of Radnor who is only briefly at Longford Castle. The visit has to be on Wednesday because of the need to meet other parties who are only in Salisbury on Tuesday, market day.

1. sic, but elsewhere R. Payne, i.e. Robert Payne: P.

786 29 June 1828. Mr Jeffery, Wardour Castle.
Has forwarded letter to Mr Hopper, the gentleman wanting a servant. Balance of money referred to by Mr Fraser is Lord Arundell’s troop account. Will enquire, through Mr Pettit, whom the Marquess of Bath has appointed as regimental agent.
Will ask if Mr Fraser, as Commanding Officer of the Troop in Lord Arundell’s absence, will accept any order to transfer the account. Requests Lord Arundell be informed.

787 1 July 1828. Mrs Berrington, Spetisbury House, Blandford.
Apologizes for delay in sending the enclosed sketch of alterations to her chapel. If the present chapel is to be retained there will be a screen to separate the congregation in the new part, but this will not impede the straight forward view of the ladies towards the altar. Will send plan for a new chapel, so that it will be possible to calculate alternative costs.

1. Address ‘Reverend Mother’ struck through; then ‘Madam’ struck through and corrected to ‘Mrs Berrington’. Letter sent to the care of Mr House. Letter begins, ‘Reverend Madam’.

788 1 July 1828. Bethel Cox Esq, Quarley House.
Encloses copy of a plan sent to Mr Hodding.

789 2 July 1828. Mrs Graham, Basingstoke.
The two houses adjoining the one in which she is interested are secured by the widow of the late Mr Canon Coxe, whose relations may intend to take her from Salisbury. If so the house can be transferred. Notes the colour of the dining room.

[Fonthill Abbey]: Accepts offer for stone of £1 per load, on behalf of Mr Benett. Will accommodate Mr Seymour in taking it down if possible. The lowest price for lead is 18s. per cwt.

791 5 July 1828. Mr Bevis, stonemason, Tisbury.
Arranges to meet at Harnham Bridge.
5 July 1828. P M Chitty Esq, Shaftesbury.
Requests help in recovering £33 15s. 0d. from Mr Richard Upjohn, due to be paid from the monies received from the [Shaftesbury] chapel building. Understands that Mr Upjohn has disposed of his business at Shaftesbury and is about to visit another hemisphere.

5 July 1828. Mr Richard Upjohn, upholsterer, Shaftesbury.
Asks for payment, to Mr Chitty, of £33 15s. 0d. after deducting five guineas for the chair. Understands that Mr Upjohn is determined on visiting the yankees and sends best wishes for future success.1

1. Richard Upjohn (1802-78) emigrated to Massachusetts in 1829, became a celebrated architect, and first president (1857-76) of the American Institute of Architects, which he was 5 July 1828. Messrs Jones and Co, metallic hot house manufactory, Mount Street, Birmingham.

Asks for sketch of proposal,1 with the addition of a balcony of 32 feet on each side with a flight of steps to each one. Queries whether estimate of £430 includes a furnace.

Has received the bond for Wilkes versus Stockbridge Trust from Messrs Tinney and Cobb. Arranges a date to enter the business.

5 July 1828. Mr Jay, J Benet's Esq, Pyt House.
Will want some 800 to 1000 feet of floor board. The English will do. Asks for someone to take up the boards in readiness.

7 July 1828. Messrs Hodding.
Tells them that the Building Committee will receive an estimate for alterations to the [Salisbury] Council House from Mr Franks, the London builder, in person.

8 July 1828. Mr John Franks, 36 Nutford (Suford) Place, Bryanston (Byaston) Square, London.
Has sent the statement to the secretary of the Building Committee [see 797]. They will assemble at 48 hours notice to receive the proposal.
9 July 1828. P M Chitty Esq, Shaftesbury.
Understands that the trustees are dissatisfied with the result of his valuation with Mr Payne. But thinks it very wrong of them to resist payment having agreed to abide by the decision. Has already told Mr Mole that no respectable surveyor would make a materially different award for the work in the Wesleyan chapel and is willing to meet any regular and respectable man of business to justify it. Suggests that Mr Upjohn may unintentionally have led his employers into greater expenditure than they had a right to expect, and ought to settle the business with the sacrifice of £92.

10 July 1828. Rt Hon Earl of Enniskillen, Cheltenham.
Acknowledges a letter and will send the particulars desired. 1

1. Addressed from 'Close', struck through and corrected to 'De Vaux Place'.

10 July 1828. Messrs Crook and son, masons, Lullington near Beckington, Somerset.
Acknowledges a most extraordinary statement demanding £40 for work expressed to be done at Town Bridge, Trowbridge. Asks for minutely detailed particulars of that and work at Staverton Bridge, where there has also been a great waste of labour. Any future work for the county must pay a regard to economy as if the work were done for a private individual.

10 July 1828. Mr F Fisher.
Asks if Mr Woolfreys will let the premises at Payne's Hill 1 on a repairing lease for seven years. Agreeing a price now for Mr Figes to buy at the end of the period. 2

1. Presumably Salisbury. The firm of William and John Woolfreys occupied premises in nearby Culver Street, Salisbury, in 1822: P.
2. Addressed from De Vaux Place. Hereafter many letters are addressed from De Vaux Place, and this fact is not separately noted.

10 July 1828. George Eyre Esq, Warrens, Stony Cross.
Confirms that the church belfry 1 is so dilapidated that the bells should not be rung and repair would be false economy. Discusses alterations, including building a gallery at a cost of about £200.

Has asked Mr Toogood to deliver a letter reporting on the Testwood Bridge.
10 July 1828. Mr Jeffery, Wardour Castle.
Has heard from his son who is with Mr Hopper that the latter will employ the youth [see 786], who is wholly to keep himself, for 12s. weekly and a suit of clothes or a livery. Wages to be advanced according to his deserts.

11 July 1828. Mr James Futcher, Fovant.
Arranges to meet at the Fovant Bridges, on the way to sessions at Warminster.

Has just received minutes of the commissioners' meeting on 21 May and will pass these to Mr Swayne. Has written to Crook about the account for Town Bridge at Trowbridge, a good round sum wrapt up in a few words. Rehearses details of his letter to Crook [801]. Has not seen papers relating to the County Bridge Bill.¹

11 July 1828. Mr Toogood, builder, Totton, Hampshire.
Regrets not having met at Testwood, but has reported to the Hon Sturgess Bouverie that the bridge was satisfactorily finished [see 804]. Payment would be conditional on an agreement to maintain it for three years.

12 July 1828.¹ Messrs Hoddings.
Asks for the meeting with Mr Franks [see 797-8].

12 July 1828. Mrs Berrington, Spetisbury House.
Arranges to visit.

Delays a meeting because a letter from the proprietor of Clarendon means an earlier return.

Arranges to meet at Bramshaw Church. Asks if the mode of repair to the buildings at Whaddon Farm meets with approval.

Has seen nothing further to the papers about the County Bridges Bill.1 Understands that Lord Lowther is opposed to it. Enquires whether it will pass in the present session. Presumes that Mr Blere is appointed to direct Mr Seymour's intended building,2 as he has agreed to buy stone and has been sent the price of sheet lead.

1. See 807 note 1.

Laments the insistence on nominating barristers as umpire,1 as nothing in the bond suggests that there is likely to be any legal difficulty that cannot be dealt with by the very respectable solicitors employed. The cost may not be important to Mr Garbett's employers, to whom the matter is sport, but his are in a position of the Frogs to whom it is death.2 If some names suggested were to be barristers attending sessions at Salisbury or Winchester others must not practice or reside in Hampshire.

2. An allusion to Aesop's fable, of a boy stoning frogs for amusement, and to the expression derived from it, 'it may be fun to you, but it is death to the frogs': Brewer.

Confirms that Toogood had undertaken to repair the bridge for three years, the alternative having been to leave a sum unpaid as security, such an agreement being normal.

Cannot agree to the suggestion about an umpire. Cannot think it right to risk the influence of connection in a business1 which could ruin his employer. Discusses options of making short lists of barristers or surveyors in reciprocal counties, or possibly both parties could name a list of three surveyors not resident in Hampshire, Wiltshire or Dorset. Umpire should attend the investigation, and the award should be drawn up by respective solicitors without reference to counsel.

1. See 814 note 1.

Sends cheque to be passed as to the parties named in it. The receipt to be given to Mr Wingrove.

1. sic, but Elijah Bush: P.
23 July 1828. Messrs Crook.
Cheque for £50 for work at Farleigh [Hungerford] Bridge has been sent via Elizah Bush Esq. Needs amended estimates for Town Bridge at Trowbridge in order to decide how to act. Encloses a receipt to be stamped.

24 July 1828. Mr William Flower, millwright, Winchester.
Asks for information by return of post about the availability of a screw pump [see 761, 824].

Agrees to postpone meeting until the mode of appointing an umpire can be agreed. Is still not convinced of need for a barrister, but accepts that Mr Garbett will list three barristers and three surveyors and he will list six surveyors.

Arranges a meeting at Wilton.

27 July 1828. Mr Dyer, smith, Stapleford.
Asks if his screw pump is in repair and available for use at Harnham Bridge.

Would regret omitting the buttresses which add materially to the strength of the building and add a legitimate ornament at no great expense. Agrees a plain top to the tower is to be preferred. Desirable to postpone the cement to next year. Recommends Coles of Southampton for the slating.

1. Bramshaw Church. See 812, 828.

27 July 1828. Mr William Flower, millwright, Winchester.
Wishes to order a pump for county bridge work, but wants clarification about a price of 20 guineas, with delivery to Salisbury, quoted on 11 May and a more recent price of 63 guineas. Is aware that the general price for the very best description of screw pump is about a guinea a foot.

Bearer has been a member of the Wardour congregation and is a servant of Mr Hopper, architect at Bayswater, who is anxious that he should perform his religious duties under the control of a pastor of the Catholic Church. Asks if lodgings can be found with a humble Catholic family near Bayswater. Is there any likelihood of Peniston's son quitting France this autumn for Stonyhurst?

1. Probably the youth referred to in 805.
2. Probably James Peniston (1809-56). See 1521. He was ordained a Jesuit priest in 1838: F-L.

Reiterates repugnance at the idea of nominating a barrister. The cost may not affect the public purse but is of the utmost consequence to his employer. Will only consent to name a barrister with the strongest protest about it being wholly unnecessary. Suggests that they should each nominate three surveyors, and the respective solicitors should nominate beforehand a counsel to deal with any matter of law that they could not determine, excluding Hampshire practitioners and those in Wiltshire if desired.

1. ?Wilkes. See 795.

827 1 Aug. 1828. Rt Hon Sir William Freemantle, Englefield Green, Surrey.
Apologizes for delay with enclosed additional estimates for Clarendon House. Will not decline engaging to get the work done for the sums stated but would prefer, on such work, to engage tradesmen to be paid according to the nature of their work.

Sends plans of Bramshaw Church without buttresses. Warns strongly against a proposal for the roof.

Apologises for delay in replying but is often from home. Recommends that the good Sister Procuratrix should not emulate the clown at the fair, who by displaying the contents of a purse, excites the cupidity of bystanders, and often leads, though somewhat surreptitiously, to a transfer of property. Recommends doing no more than securing building material, mainly bricks, for work in the ensuing spring. Has not wholly given up hope, if funds allow, to transfer the school room to the chapel, leaving more room in the dwelling house. Asks if this looks like aiming at the purse of the Procuratrix.

Yields in despair, vanquished but not convinced. Will name three barristers and three surveyors. Would prefer to retire from the business except that further procrastination would further damage a much oppressed man.

1. ?Wilkes. See 795, 826.
Laments, for his mother's sake, that his son cannot visit home before returning to the college. Asks if they can meet in London. Is joined by Mrs Peniston in respectful remembrances to the Rev Mr Scott.
1. See 825 and note 2.

832 5 Aug. 1828. Rt Hon Sir William Freemantle, Englefield Green, Surrey.
[Clarendon House]: Regards it as unfortunate that a transposition of the offices is adding to the expense while the estimate has to be reduced by nearly £150. Will try to rely on the justice of Sir Frederick Hervey Bathurst if the expenditure is fairly shown to be more than the estimate. The roman cement to be used to stucco the south and west walls of the mansion, but only to colour the walls of the offices with the same materials. If the work is started immediately could be inhabitable by Michaelmas the following year.

833 7 Aug. 1828. Mr Young, carpenter, Bramshaw, Stoney Cross.
Arranges meeting to set out work at Bramshaw Church.

Confirms appointment as umpire to value property at Wilton and arranges meeting.

Asks the whereabouts of the statue of the late Alderman Beckford which stood in the entrance hall at Fonthill Abbey. Asks if any copper has been sent to Bristol. Bar iron has been raised 10s. per ton. Asks if Mr Seymour has fetched away any stone [see 790].

Intends to send list. Suggests meeting and that they should be joined by solicitors.

Offers six names for selection: Mr Hopper, architect London; Mr T Bramah, engineer
London; Mr Underwood, architect Bath; and Mr Bingham, Mr Benson and Mr Awdry, barristers.

838 [undated]. Mrs Eyre, Warrens, Stoney Cross.
Hopes observations, with former letter, will enable Mr Eyre to exercise his own wishes on return.
1. On Bramshaw Church. See 828.
Discusses Scapin's proposals for repairing a bridge, made more difficult by the most unseasonal of all seasons and having to wait for the water to fall.

[Bramshaw Church]: Has heard from Mr Eyre in London that he had not understood the buttresses to be so important and they should be built if essential. However the buttresses are only desirable and will add only a little to the cost. Prefers that Mr Eyre should decide on his return.

841 13 Aug. 1828. Rt Hon Sir William Freemantle Bart, Englefield Green, Surrey.
Confirms that a packet with a drawing of the offices at Clarendon had been sent by the Light Salisbury Coach.

842 16 Aug. 1828. [address not stated].
Discusses the buttresses. Those for the church [Bramshaw] should be as before, to conform with the existing ones, and to be able to re-use old material. Those at the external angles of the new tower should correspond with the building erected by Mr Eyre.

1. Letter begins, Madam, thus Mrs Eyre. See 840.

Reflects on their recent meeting about valuing a building' and cannot agree with Mr Gover's suggestion to put 24 years purchase on buildings which are freehold and 22 years for buildings which should be calculated at 17½ and 16 years.

1. At Wilton. See 821, 834.

844 19 Aug. 1828. [address not stated].
Refers to letter of 4 March, and encloses plan but cannot reduce the estimate if the alterations in the house are completed as proposed. There is now the addition of a brew house, wash house, laundry and bake house with their enclosures and a dairy, changes to farm buildings, alteration and additions to the gardens. However the cost could be kept to as little as £1000 if the alterations to the library and bedroom above were to be accepted.

1. See 720. The letter was presumably sent to Sir William Freemantle, and the estimate relates to Clarendon House.

Will be visiting the abbey to examine the articles.
846 26 Aug. 1828. Mr John Fowler, Melksham.
Has received accounts for road repairs at Melksham Bridge.

Regrets that the dangerous illness of a dear friend prevents a visit. Requests Mr Wingrove to give the directions needed at Farleigh [Hungerford] to give security to the public.

1. Harrington. See 850.

Had called hoping to discuss valuations which, with infinite regret, he cannot agree. Will be pleased to meet Mr Gover again to discuss the matter if his opinion is open to revision. Has a duty to protect the interest of the Earl of Malmesbury and the other trustees.

1. Letter is addressed from Portsmouth, later crossed through in pencil. The following note is appended: 'Mem. The above copy of a letter to Mr Brooks is the substance of one written by me from Portsmouth yesterday, though in point of expression may not be an exact copy. JP Sept. 1, 1828.'

849 1 Sept. 1828. Mr J Hurlstone, 5 Grays Inn Place, London.
Has not written about the meeting to Mr Bingham, who should not be taken from the relaxation necessary after the professional exertions he encountered. But as the meeting is postponed he could be asked to come.

1. Name indistinctly written.

Encloses cheque for £20 on account for expenditure for Trowbridge. Has lost his poor friend Harrington.

1. Thomas Harrington, proprietor of the Black Horse Inn, Salisbury. Peniston was a trustee of a trust set up to administer his estate, and advanced money to his widow, although it subsequently became apparent that Harrington had died insolvent. See WRO 451/393.

Cannot visit Trowbridge and leaves it to Mr Wingrove to judge what needs to be done at the bridge. While not wishing to spend more than is required of the county's money, it would be false economy to leave anything of consequence after the expensive preparations.
Laments that exertions in serving poor Upjohn¹ have been of little avail. Is not disposed to aggravate the misfortune and will agree any compromise the creditors may consent to. Is himself owed £28 10s 8d and will accept any proportion that can be agreed.

6 Sept. 1828. Mr Strong, mason, Box, near Bath.¹
Orders stone for structure shown on enclosed plan.² Sufficient needed for five columns in the entrance hall, and for three windows in the Grand Jury Room.

² Of Salisbury Council House.

Has surveyed repairs needed at Bishopdown and agrees with Mr Saph, except about the cottage occupied by the shepherd where the roof has been sunk for twenty years and is good for twenty more. The barn floors are as bad as Mr Saph described. Discusses clause of the lease from William Beckford about the use of timber from the estate. This can be used for repairs but not new buildings. Calculates amounts needed for two-inch oak floors in the barns, and elm or deal needed for barn and other doors and racks. Does not include timber for repair of hatches in the meadows which were under water during the visit.

6 Sept. 1828. Mr Harris, Ringwood.¹
Joins with Mr Parker in the temporary security required for a Mr Jelly and hopes that, in trying him again, Mr Harris will find it 'shooting an arrow the self same way' (Shakespeare).² If not, suggests that he deserves to be beaten till he becomes like his own name.

¹ Addressed as 'Dear Dan'. Daniel Harris was a currier in Ringwood Market Place, and Joseph Jelly was a clothier in High Street, Ringwood. P.

Mr James Stent, Antelope Inn, Dorchester.
'Many thanks for your kind remembrance' of the son of your old companion in arms. I am now dressed for a Field Day, but it is with regret I am compelled to add, with feelings far different from those with which we used to meet in days of yore. Two and thirty years of service has taken somewhat of the gilt off these said feelings, but the circumstances that occurred at our last permanent duty have so completely disgusted me with everything pertaining to Troop matters that nothing but a sense of duty arising from the vanity of believing that I can still be of service to the Regiment induces me to remain in it.
'I am very much in want of a horse. I am become too weighty for my old charger and mean, if I can procure another, to give him up to my son. Part with him I cannot, it would be another separation from an old friend - will you have the goodness to look out for me. I want something that could be active with sixteen stone on his back, and I could wish him not to exceed six years old and as usual all these good things for as little money as may be - but in the latter respect I should be guided in great measure by your advice.

'If my dear Jem you can assist me in this pursuit it will add to the many kindnesses you have conferred on your old and sincere friend, J Peniston.'

1. MS present to, struck through and corrected.
2. MS we underlined.

Is preparing plans. Neither will reduce the estimates and one will increase it. Therefore states he will execute the alterations, building and repairs including the conservatory according to the plans and specifications agreed for Clarendon House and offices for £8000.

1. Perhaps Timothy Bramah. See 874.

869 6 Oct. 1828. [addressee not stated].
Acknowledges letter and enclosures. Unfortunate that old Crook's obstinancy has led to further mischief. Stresses that the Trowbridge accounts must not allow any more than the entitlement. Feels more strongly about the shameful accounts for £7 16s. 0d. for labour at Maiden Bradley when the most he can allow is £2 2s. 10d. plus three or four shillings for the cost of lodgings. Is likely to cut any further connection with these worthies.

1. Probably Anthony Wingrove. See 861.

Has sent another drawing of the garden front and discusses the appearance of the building. Repeats proposal to do the work at Clarendon for £8000.1 Asks if a meeting in London is required.

Discuss the payment of Mrs Harrington's bills.

872 [undated]. A Wingrove Esq, surveyor, Trowbridge.
The work remaining at the invert' may be left another season. Mr Wingrove must exercise his judgement about whether to finish the parapet if the dams are destroyed. Perhaps some of the clay could be saved for future use. Regrets trouble caused by untoward events.¹

1. 'An inverted arch, as at the bottom of a canal or sewer': OED (where earliest reference is 1838).
2. There is no indication of which bridge is being discussed.

Will meet Mr Lucas at Farnborough after two days at Southampton. However, if delayed at Southampton the meeting will have to be postponed because of another one with Lord Normanton at Somerley.

Confirms that there is no immediate danger from the sinking of the bedroom floor at Norman Court. But it is a remarkable settlement of framed floor with trussed girders relative to the width of the room. It should be restored to the proper level. Has consulted Mr Bramah who agrees the plan made to secure it permanently at least expense. This will be between £200 and £300, mainly arising from the iron braces and ties to be affixed to the beams to keep them from sinking again. There should be no cause for alarm.

Encloses cheque for expenses on the road connected to Melksham Bridge. Asks for a stamped receipt.

Has been to Clarendon House with Mr Webb and arranged for inventories of the furniture and library. Work has started in the house and garden. Will discuss with Mr Webb the nature of security to be given for the money advanced and will then be happy to receive payment as proposed.
878 24 Oct. 1828. H Samuel Whitchurch Esq, Milford Street [Salisbury].
Sends the minutes of the repairs required by Mr Saphe to be executed at Bishop Down Farm, and his supplementary statement. Has no further comment on these. Returns the lease and laments to learn that the legal construction is opposed to his view, which equity would demand.

Replies to query about bricks. Mr Knight should be the judge of their quality. Has not decided for either of the plans. Will call if in the area or could come on purpose if asked.

Work at Clarendon will require many loads of memel timber and a considerable number of deals. Offers a ready money bargain if terms can be agreed. Asks cost of sawing in scantlings and various thicknesses for doors and windows. Would like well seasoned Christiana deals, red and white, but has been told that they are not to be had out of the London market.

Encloses a cheque. Sends Crook’s bill and has no compunction in saying they must wait for what is due from the county. Asks for old Crook to be told to make the slight repair in Road Bridge. Sends best respects to Wingrove’s father.

Encloses a cheque for £200 and suggests future payments. Will send details of scantlings. Asks when a load of deals prepared for doors and windows can be collected.

883 1 Nov. 1828. Rt Hon Earl of Enniskillen.
[Grimstead]: Has been unable to verify the claim of Feltham, farm agent to the late Mr Wynch, and Hobbs who provided material for repairs. Thinks Feltham has no claim and has been cautious with Hobbs, who has twice been a bankrupt, since any admission may induce his assignees to make a demand. Lists demands from executors of the late Mr Wynch totalling £2006. Has explained that that delay in paying results from his enquiries. And suggests that executors might abate their demand for immediate settlement.

Returns two bills, having accepted them and made them payable in London at Remington’s, the agents for his bankers. If the waggon arrives before deals are ready it should be sent with part of the consignment unsawn.

886  1 Nov. 1828. George Morant Esq, Frimley, Surrey.
Discusses alterations at Farnborough House. Suggests that the staircase from the basement to the principal floor should be moved because its vicinity to the gentlemen's water closet is objectionable. Has left written instructions with Mr Mathews about fitting up the stables and the rooms over and adjoining. The situation selected for a servants' hall is the best that could be found. Agrees site for new kennels as it is a moderate distance from the stables, desirable either for going or coming in from the field and with easy access to water. A list of repairs to the farm house and buildings is to follow.

Says that Perry [see 890] consents to receive their paintings and glasses and will therefore send them forthwith. Encloses a receipt for £1000 and will send a draft of the proposed bond if Cobb can prepare it in time for George.

Asks for account for timber and deals had by Wells.

Writes about the account of the late Rev Mr Begin. Will be paid through Remington and Co. Expects the return of Dr Baines from Rome when something will be definitely settled. Regrets not hearing previously, and a friend who had money out of use and would have invested it for 5% had placed it elsewhere.

890  7 Nov. 1828. Rt Hon Sir William Freemantle, Englefield Green, Surrey. [Clarendon House]: Has received £1000 from Mr Webb. Reports on progress. Fine weather has enabled the footings of new garden walls to be done. Old bricks and tiles have been removed, stacked and covered. In the house has removed partitioning and timbers above drawing and dining rooms but timber is worse than expected. Is annoyed by the great quantity of furniture in the house, much of it classed in the inventory as unfit for use. Describes in which rooms articles are being stored. Has arranged for a Clarendon tenant, Mr Perry, to take the pictures and glasses. Has made extensive purchases of timber and brick.

But the latter will not be paid until the end of the remaining six years of the lease.

Will send sketch and details for the entrance front and part of the offices by the Poole Coach.

Agrees that in the circumstances Beauchamp is not entitled to make a demand for the sketch and estimates for the windows. In the normal way of business a party not employed to do the work could make a charge of 2\% on the amount for a plan and estimates.

‘Dear Hatcher, I am quite ashamed at having been so long in deciding whether to return William to you or to take him to school a year at my office. A balance of pros and cons determine me on the latter course, but if you can without inconvenience to yourself allow him to join your mathematical class at such hours as they usually assemble for that purpose, I shall be most happy to balance as far as a pecuniary compensate can do so desirable a favor. Allow me to take this opportunity of thanking you for the advantages my boys have received for your kind attentions and instruction, and believe me to be, dear Hatcher, very sincerely yours, J Peniston.’

1. Elsewhere (e.g. 967) the name is Beddome. Beddome and Winter were Romsey surgeons: P.

‘I am much gratified at the kind manner in which you have been pleased to approve of the progress of the works at Clarendon House, and be assured no exertion shall be spared to fulfil all the engagements I have made for its completion. The several observations you have made in your last letter shall be attended to but I fear the alteration of the fire place in the north west bedroom cannot well be effective without cutting more into the old wall than I would wish to do.

'You will be pleased to learn, Sir, that we have taken off the whole of the old roof and have nearly replaced it with the timbers of the new one. We hope to put on the plumber on Thursday next to lay a portion of the gutters and, the present weather continuing, we calculate the slaters may begin on the Monday following and hope the bricklayers will succeed in raising the walls of the additional building to enable them to continue and cover in the whole.

'We found the timbers of the old roof even worse than I had expected, many of them rotted off in the walls. One of the beams over the old staircase gave way with a carpenter on it who went with the timber to the bottom and though pretty much shaken and taken to the Infirmary as a matter of precaution is not very seriously hurt and hope in a few days he will be able to resume his work.

'We have found it necessary to take down the whole of the chimney to the level of the chamber ceiling, they [sic] being too much shattered to remain with safety.

'I have received at Mr Webb's office the farther sum of £500, making in the whole £2000. I make this particular acknowledgement because I have not given a stamped receipt for the last £500. I believe the law does not require it when an acknowledgement is made by letter and a general receipt is afterwards given on a stamp. If this mode, Sir, is satisfactory to you it will save me as [sic] 7s 6d stamp on each payment. If not I will of course meet your wishes.

'With the sincerest respect I remain, Sir, Your faithful and obedient servant.'

955 10 Feb. 1829. Mrs Berrington, Spetisbury House.'

983 10 March 1829. Mr Strong, mason, Box near Bath.
Surprised not to have a reply to the earlier request.¹

1. Written by J M Peniston, on father's behalf. But no letter to Strong survives more recent than 6 Sept. 1828 [853]. See also 995.

984 10 March 1829. Rt Hon Sir William Freemantle, Stanhope Street, London. [Clarendon House]: Had expected Mr Webb to notify the payments. The offices connected with the mansion at the first floor level and the stables would be started. Had met Mr Webb at Melchet and hopes the report will be satisfactory.

985 11 March 1829. W E Griffin, statuary mason, 63 Quadrant, Regent's Street, London.
The fire places not to be less than 4 ft., as the rooms are large. Thus £2 to be added to the statuary chimney piece.
986 [undated]. Sir William Freemantle.
[Clarendon House]: Discusses cost of altering the roof, substituting slates for tile, which would improve the appearance of the building. The space is cleared for the intended staircase.

1. Acknowledges a letter dated 10th.

989 23 March 1829. Mr Franks.
Asks if he intends to undertake the staircase at Clarendon.

990 26 March 1829. Rev R Parker.
 Writes in the middle of military arrangements to say that they are equally busy in getting up a counter-petition to the Anti Catholic.1 Hopes to send a few sheets for signatures. Cannot send particulars but will request Mrs P [sic] to do so. There are great and good names with them. Is anxious about Mr Arundell’s resignation.

1. A petition to the king, opposing Catholic emancipation, was circulating among Wiltshire gentry during March 1829, and was printed in Salisbury and Winchester Journal, 16 March 1829, p.4. A heated correspondence on the issue was maintained in the newspaper during March and April.

991 27 March 1829. [addressee not stated].
Is able to send a copy of the petition as Mrs P forgot to send the letter by the morning mail. Describes how the petition should be completed. Urges the speedy collection of as many respectable names as possible but no XX: Mr Henry Everett the banker is the most zealous, active and useful friend and entre nous is the gentleman to replace Mr B— A—2 should he resign.

1. Probably Rev Parker. See 990.
2. Perhaps Mr B Arundell. See 990.
27 March 1829. Mr Thomas Lucas, builder, Chertsey.
Thinks the price for plastering to be fair. The price per rod of brickwork is excessive and asks about the charge for mortar and labour as he cannot recommend Mr Morant to agree.

1. At Farnborough House. See 993.

27 March 1829. G Morant Esq, Farnborough House, Frimley, Surrey.
Forwards copies of a letter from Mr Lucas and the reply [992]. Was away when his son sent off the plans and enquires if they were explanatory [sic]. Has not yet made accounts of Mr Matthews' works.

27 March 1829. Messrs Winkfield and Co.
Regrets the roman cement sent is unfit for use. Has tried two casks and will keep them but is sending back the other four in accordance with the agreement. Requires a guarantee before ordering large quantities of cement and plaster or will go elsewhere.

31 March 1829. Mr Strong, mason, Box.
Disappointed not to hear about the balustrading for Lord Normanton. Wishes to know when a load will be ready and at which part of the house scaffolding should be erected.

1. For Somerley House. See 907, 983.
2. Written by J M Peniston, on father's behalf.

31 March 1829. Rev Mr Dewdney.

Agrees a price for wood, subject to usual discount.

2 April 1829. Winkfield and Co, Grove Street, Southwark.
Reiterates that unsatisfactory cement must be taken back. Judges this on the basis of 20 years as a surveyor. Will accept a further shipment of 12 casks subject to the conditions already proposed.

4 April 1829. Mr Strong, mason, Box near Bath.
[Somerley House]: Encloses drawings of baluster caps and base, and of the mouldings of the bases of balustrading to the house. Seeks agreement that the scaffolding will be erected first over the colonnade on the south front.¹

7 April 1829. Rt Hon Sir William Freemantle, Stanhope Street, London.

7 April 1829. George Morant Esq, Farnborough Place.
Acknowledges letter containing Mathew's proposals for brickwork but does not know whether he was aware of Lucas's prices. Will send accounts in a day or two. Mathew's proposals are exactly 20s. per rod less than Lucas's, and are fair. Peniston insists that he has no motive in preferring one tradesman to another, farther than to protect Morant's interests.

7 April 1829. Mr E Griffin, 63 Quadrant, London.
Encloses draft for the amount of a bill and asks for a stamped receipt [see 980, 985].

9 April 1829. Wadham Wyndham Esq, College.¹

11 April 1829. Messrs Winkfield and Co, Grove Street, Southwark.
Assumes that the proposed terms of dealing [see 994, 999] were not acceptable as there had been no reply. Requests reply by return or will have to go elsewhere, as he is in urgent need of plaster and 15 to 20 more casks of roman cement. Depends on their honour to take back the useless cement.
1007 11 April 1829. [addressee not stated].
Regrets cannot name Monday or Tuesday to meet the tradesmen at Bramshaw Church. Is waiting hourly to receive a gentleman from Ireland to settle some accounts of the late Mr Wynch with the Lords of the Manor of Dean and Grimstead. Will write again to arrange the meeting.

Has seen Mr Brownjohn who valued the fixtures at Fovant. Lists some reductions.

1009 11 April 1829. Charles Millet Esq, Hindon.
Forwards amended plan and estimate. The additional bedroom, the second staircase and new sash windows in the front will increase the cost to £530. Suggests a way of raising the drawing room ceiling without taking the roof off.

1. Probably relates to the clergyman's house at Hindon. See 945, 1056.

1010 13 April 1829. G Morant Esq, Farnborough Place, Surrey.
Has completed most of Mathews' bills. Details some queries about ironmongery, smithwork and bricks. Encloses amended plan moving the main staircase into the intended drawing room by permitting the existing bathroom to form part of the conservatory, and communicating with it by a pair of folding glass doors. Has proposed some alterations in and adjoining the lobby leading to the water closet to make it more private. Proposes arrangements for servants' staircase. Has received from Mr Mathews the prices for brickwork, and Strong promises to do the work in the best possible manner, but will not answer until he has heard from Morant.

1011 13 April 1829. Mr Bellamy, builder, Whitchurch, Dorset.
Says that Mr Boucher is anxious that work on the staircase at Thornhill should proceed. Asks for plan of the lodge gates and adjoining roads.

1012 15 April 1829. Mr Sworn, Oatmeal Row [Salisbury].
Had intended to answer personally the previous day but seeing the shop full of customers thought the visit would be ill-timed. The sentiments in the letter did him great credit and removed a disagreeable impression. Had been informed by someone at the time that he had employed King to post the bills and was only prevented by the city authorities. Is pleased that this was void of truth.¹

1013 15 April 1829. Mr Franks, builder, 36 Nutford Place, Bryanston Square, London.
The estimate so much exceeds the calculation that he will trouble him no further.

1. Perhaps for the staircase at Clarendon. See 989.

1014 16 April 1829. Mr Strong.
[Somerley House]: Has only just received the letter of 11th and no scaffolding can be ready until the 27th. Is going immediately to Mr Webb, Lord Normanton's steward, who is arranging the poles. Regrets the delay as Lord Normanton is impatient. Suspects the letter which had arrived by post had been carried in someone's pocket. Is replying by post because Mr Strong's man chooses to stay although there was nothing to do until the 27th.

1015 17 April 1829. Colonel The Marquis of Bath, Grosvenor (Groversnor) Square, London.
Accepts frankly and respectfully the cap! His Lordship has been pleased to offer. Welcomes it with a consciousness of having at least endeavoured to deserve it. Will inform Lord Arundell on his return. Hopes that, when the Regiment meets, the Troop will meet with approval. Offers help to Mr Adjutant Pettit if needed.

1. Perhaps formal ratification of Peniston's yeomanry commission following the passing of the Catholic Relief Act.

1016 20 April 1829. George Morant Esq, Farnborough Place, Surrey.
Feels regret at the change made before the house is finished, but the event is too common to excite surprise. Knows Mr Tatham to be a gentleman of ability and does not have the vanity to compete with London architects.

1017 [undated]. [addressee not stated].
Notes that Salisbury Fair is not until 20th October and that Weyhill starts on the 10th for five days. Lord Bath proposes Troops march to quarters on the 13th and return on the 20th, both Tuesdays. Suggests gentlemen with business at the market could delay their arrival or leave early.

1019 22 April 1829. Philip Chitty Esq, Shaftesbury.

1020 23 April 1829. [addressee not stated].
Orders two casks of mastic, to be sent by Mr Woolcott's waggon.

1021 23 April 1829. [addressee not stated].
Cannot understand delay about conservatory at Clarendon. Unless there is a satisfactory reply will have to apply elsewhere.

1022 23 April 1829. Messrs Winkfield and Co.
Acknowledges that the first cask opened proved very good and expects the rest to be the same [see 1006].

1023 23 April 1829. C Millet Esq, Hindon.
Will visit Hindon. Wants to employ a particular carpenter and any bricklayer who is preferred.

1024 24 April 1829. Mr Strong.
Reports that Lord Normanton is at Somerley but that Mr Webb, his steward, does not wish him to be annoyed sooner than absolutely necessary. But all the stone for the work should be sent with the greatest expedition.

1025 24 April 1829.¹ [addressee not stated].
‘Dear John, There appears a precious paucity of brains with members of my family. Ellen & Will in the plenitude of their epistolatory knowledge direct their letter to “Mrs Peniston, Hartford Bridge”. I wonder they had not directed it to “My Mother, Hart Bridge”. And Mrs P and my son John expecting an answer to their letter consider it an act of superrogation to make any enquirement at the Post Office. The consequence is that Thomas with Mrs Harrington's horse has been waiting all day at Andover and most likely, hearing from no-one, will return tonight or tomorrow morning; and I relying on your return this evening and arranging accordingly have to pay the penalty of the combined stupidity of all the party with all the patience I can muster. I remain very affectionately yours, J Peniston.’

1. MS Friday eve.
2. Presumably Eleanor Arundell Peniston (born 1812) and William Michael Peniston (born 1814), son and daughter of John Peniston: WAM, vol.80, p.186. The identity of the addressee and the frustrating circumstances which occasioned the letter are unclear.

1026 [undated]. Mr Swayne.
The number of old tiles wanted is available for Mr Thring at Clarendon.¹

1. Written by J M Peniston, on father's behalf.
1027 25 April 1829. Mr James Bowerman, Bugle, Southampton.
Has been asked by Mr Marett to send plans of the interior of the church with the new seating.

Acknowledges request for Mr Baker to send the balance of account to Messrs Drummond and Co.

1033 3 May 1829. Mr Strong, mason, Box near Bath.
'I have had a letter from L'd Normanton complaining of the small quantity of stone yet sent for the proposed balustrade. I have written in answer that I have every reason to believe that you are preparing at the quuary with all possible expedition. I most curdvently entreat you to lose no time in meeting his wishes. I know he contemplates extensive alterations and it may be of consequence not to offend him. He is at present residing at Somerly - and I understand from Mr Webb his Steward it is doubtful whether he may not continue there during the summer - it would therefore be madness to begin setting till the whole of the part connected with the mansion is prepared. If you will give me due notice of this I will take care that scaffolding bricklayers and coppersmiths shall be in readiness to get on with the work but do not I entreat you let us begin to pull the house about till we are prepared to go regularly on with the completion. I am dear Sir, very faithfully yours.'
Confirms that the mason has been urged to get forward with the stonework for the balustrade [see 1033]. Will arrange to erect scaffolding when the poles arrive from Lord Malmesbury's bailiff. 'I am aware My Lord that the label for the windows is not strictly architectural as connected with a brick front, and that to make them so the architrave should be continued round the windows so as to make the dressings complete. But I am also aware that much greater liberties are taken with the regular orders in modern buildings. If the desired effect be produced regularity is not considered of much consequence.' However perhaps a decision should be delayed until completion of the balustrade.

1. Presumably Mr Hart, Hurn Court, Christchurch. See 1047.

With an early start it should only take one day to inspect the proposed alterations. The charge would be three guineas, or five if it took two days.

1. Probably to East Knoyle church. See 1223.

1036  4 May 1829. R Payne Esq. architect, Gillingham.
Puzzled about mason's account at the Town Hall because local customs of measurement are contradictory. Asks for help so as not to injure Mr Downs with the report. Agrees price for Tisbury stone but does not know what to allow for setting.
Encloses accounts and discusses variations to several entries. Apologizes for troubling him while he is indisposed.

1. Shaftesbury. See 899.

Proposes to arrive not later than nine o'clock on Friday morning.

1038  [undated]. Messrs Winkfield and Co, cement manufacturer, Grove Street, Southwark.
Had not received six casks of coarse plaster ordered to be sent by Russell's waggon from Friday Street [see 1031]. Nor heard anything of cement and plaster by the Albion. The disappointments are very serious to the plasterers who are standing idle for want of material. Requests immediate attention.

1039  7 May 1829. George Morant Esq, E J Shirley Esq, Eastington Park, Shipstonon-Stour.
Has received packet of Matthews' bills and regrets many appear exceptional. Will meet Matthews at Farnborough to measure the work. Asks for permission to see the day work book which he had recommended be kept.
1040 10 May 1829. Rt Hon Lord Viscount Palmerston, Stanhope Street, London.

1046 19 May 1829. Mr Jones, Birmingham.
Replies that Sir William Freemantle agrees to the conservatory being heated by warm water. Thinks it will come cheaper from Birmingham than casting at Salisbury. Asks the weight and freight per ton cost to Southampton. A local gentleman has procured one from London at considerably less expense. But the difference would be the freight charge from Birmingham versus London. However one prepared under Mr Jones' direction would be preferred. Asks when erection could start at Clarendon.
1047 19 May 1829. Mr Hart, Hurn Court, Christchurch (XtChurch).
Understands that Mr Webb has spoken about the fir poles for Lord Normanton.
Needs 6 from 30 feet to 35 feet, and 20 from 25 feet to 30 feet, and 14 any length.

ensuing week.

1053 23 May 1829. Rt Hon Earl of Normanton.
Apologizes for the delay caused by the want of scaffolding poles. But no time will be lost when it is fixed and Peniston will visit Somerley to direct the masons. Sends a new elevation showing alterations.

The receipt is to be sent to Peniston if Hanks can procure a frank, otherwise he can bring it to the ensuing sessions. Asks for immediate settlement with Fisher as the poor man is distressed and writes frequently.

Encloses cheque for sundry accounts. Will be visiting soon so will be able to offer thanks for all the kindness and good wishes. Sends best respects to Mrs Wingrove.

1060 4 June 1829. Mr Strong, mason, Box near Bath.
Scaffolding on the east front at Somerley is complete and Strong's man is cutting down the blocking course in preparation for fixing the new base. Needs a drawing of how many pedestals are intended on the front. Lady Normanton is anxious to know when Strong will visit. Lord Normanton is away but writes every day to urge the work on. Men may be sent as the bricklayers and others will keep out of the way. Asks for an urgent reply.

Sums up by observing that every part of the work is as forward as is desirable, if he can believe the party who is preparing the conservatory who assures him that it should be ready for erection about the end of the month. Is obliged by the punctuality of the payment.

1. MS 6 June corrected.

'My father is at present from home but has desired me to go to Tytherley and report to you on the progress of the work. I have done so today and find the painters have finished the outside and are now cleaning and painting in the attics. The bricklayers have opened the footings for the coach house and stable etc, and I have altered the size of the coach houses as you wished from 10 feet to 14 feet. 1126 9 Aug. 1829. Mr Richard Tarrant, mason, Swindon.
Acknowledges account of progress.¹ Regrets cannot confer a right to the scrapings of the road. It is usually considered that 100 yds. on either side of the bridge is kept in repair by the county, and where this has been done at county expense the scrapings would be their property. But this has not hitherto been done. Complains about the position of the commissioners who were released from the repair of the bridge.

[Seven Bridges]: Regrets that there has been annoyance by the water, and from the appearance of the weather thinks the annoyance likely to continue. The description of the watercourse being stopped is not confined to that part of the county and many

'What I feared has come to pass. The excessive indolence of your men at Fisherton Bridge has so far attracted public notice that I have received a formal application on the subject. My answer was any delay or neglect on the part of your men would not be to the loss of the county but yours, as the work would be measured and valued when done. This will certainly be the case. I therefore give you this notice that you may prevent any further loss from the same cause.'

Will arrange waggons when the cargo [see 1130] reaches Southampton. Suggests that 1163 8 Oct. 1829. [addressee not stated].

Can vouch for Lieutenant Ward and Cornet Codrington of the Marlborough Troop having been on duty for the whole of the stay at Devizes. Encloses a certificate from the Clerk of the Lieutenancy of Cornet Estcourt's commission, this having been overlooked by the War Office as His Lordship had thought. 1189 9 Nov. 1829. Anthony Wingrove Esq, Trowbridge.
'My Dear Sir, Your letter which I have this moment received announcing the death of our poor friend Underwood both surprizes and grieves me. It is a very short time since I received a letter from him on his road to Ilchester requesting an inquiry for a greatcoat he had left in his passage through Salisbury, which I was fortunate enough to recover and forward him to Ilchester; a circumstance trifling in itself but now of comparative importance as the last connecting link with one who ceases to exist. Requiescat in pace.

'I have to apologise for not having before sent you the cheque which I now enclose. I have it is true been much engaged and great part of my time from home, but not sufficient to warrent this neglect for which I request your forbearance. In the following statement you will perceive that £10 is placed to the account of Road Bridge, on which I have written to Mr Ledyard [1173] to inform him that I should request your examination of the work done, and would pay the accounts if you deemed them fair. But I really see no reason to pay one shilling more than the value of the work done. The accounts transmitted to me I believe amounted to £10 5s. 10d. I have asked only for £10 and this from Mr Ledyard's assurance was to have completed the job, and now informs me an additional coat of stone is immediately required. This cannot be right and compromises me with the county for an improvident engagement. I have allowed Crook for Road Bridge £7 7s. 0d. for which I must trouble you to get me a proper receipt. I believe the following statement will be found to be correct.

'Mr Wingrove's account for the repair of sundry roads as noted: £99 5s. 5d. For repairs of Kington Bridge: £4 7s. 2d. For alterations and repairs of Road Bridge: £10 0s. 0d. Crook's bill for mason's work at Road Bridge: £7 7s. 0d. [Total:] £120 19s. 7d.

'Will you also be kind enough to forward me a stamped receipt for £32 16s. 9d. paid on account of Trowbridge Bridge since our last annual settlement.

'Sincerely hoping that this may find you in better health than when last we met. Best wishes to your father. I remain most truly yours.'

Prefers to write instructions rather than visit because of recent indisposition. Does not Arranges to visit.

1216 4 Dec. 1829. Sir W Freemantle, Brunswick Terrace, Brighton.

Sets out in detail the extensive repairs and alterations proposed by Mr Whitchurch to be executed at the Mitre Inn, Southampton.

Will measure work at Somerley. Feels little compunction at making Strong wait for his money after the long delays he has caused. Is also induced not to hasten because the weather would be sure to prove any defect in the stone used.

Acknowledges £4 1s. 0d., being a moiety of the charge as an umpire, between H C
Compton Esq and J Dyett.¹

1. See 1219 note 1.

Has seen Governor Dowding and examined bills for work done by Coombs on the

1. Written by J M Peniston, on father's behalf.

1243 [undated]. Marquess of Bath. Points out that if the Quartermaster's return was correct they have been credited by the Ordnance Board with 2 swords more than they have and 3 pistols fewer. The 10 carbines for the Devizes Troop are with a gunsmith, having been returned by the Everley Troop in a wretched state. The 10 carbines for Marlborough were in excellent condition. Had not known the Hindon Troop had 6 carbines. Acknowledges a basket of game.

Regrets entering on a tiresome subject. A committee has been set up [see 1154] to oppose the churchwardens and overseers, who are promoting a parliamentary bill to transfer poor rate assessment from cottage occupiers to owners. Sets out the arguments and resolution of the committee.

1251 [undated]. Mr Bellamy.
Weather has been a barrier to meeting at Thornhill House but expects to do so later in February.

1252 [undated]. Rt Hon Sir William Freemantle.
Considers the bellhanger’s estimate - by no means unreasonable for hanging 17 bells complete in the principal part of the house for £35, and six bells in the office for £10. Suggests that the clock should be in a turret with north and south faces. Has given directions to prevent damage to the billiard table. Pleased that Sir Frederick [Bathurst] is satisfied. Points out that letters should be addressed to him at the Close so as not to be confused with a relation of the same name who is a builder.

1253 3 Feb. 1830. [addressee not stated].
Acknowledges letter and will comment on one opinion expressed. Agrees that the compulsory rate for the maintenance of poor relief should be equally levelled against all property and stock in trade. Disagrees about comparing the situation with tithes. Compares the Salisbury proposal unfavourably with the Bristol local act. Wants a clause inserted that rates houses let by the year to the occupier and not the owner. The committee will not have funds to employ professional assistance and seeks his help during the progress of the bill.

‘I am glad to learn Lord Arundell has been with you. The pleasure of such a meeting I am sure must have been mutual, and I sincerely join you in the gratifying feelings his friends must experience on such a man resuming his hereditary rights. I should be laughed at were I to express my feelings in becoming really a free man. It was easy for those who felt no privation to consider ours' imaginary. Bitterly I felt them and not the less so from endeavouring to conceal their effects. Deo Gratia est nos amis. However defective the language the sentiment is gratefully remembered.’

1. Presumably John Benett. See 1250.
2. The Roman Catholic Relief Act (10Geo4, c.7), passed in April 1829, enabled Catholics to enter Parliament.

Reconciles a discrepancy in the return to the War Office of 349 men in June 1829 and 361 in December. Understands that the establishment was limited to 583, the strength in 1808. Cannot understand the deficiency in carbines.

1255 7 Feb. 1830. Most Noble Col the Marquis of Bath.
Acknowledges his Lordship's wishes. Suggests that if the return of arms was forwarded to the Ordnance it would prove that his Lordship had not been inattentive to their wishes.

1256 [undated]. Lord Normanton.
Arranges to visit Somerley and meet the tradesmen.

1257 [undated]. Messrs Cottman, Gardiner (Ringwood) and Strong (Box near Bath).

1. Written by J M Peniston, on father's behalf. Presumably similar letters sent to each.

Acknowledges £49 10s. 10d. Ordnance return should be sanctioned by his Lordship. Has procured copies of the letter but cannot frank certificates to the captains, and will wait until many are at Salisbury as grand jurors.

1259 [undated]. Mr Thomas Culling, Keinton Mandeville (Kinton), Somerset.
Encloses cheque for work at Clarendon House.

Has no expectation of meeting wishes, as the Quartermaster, Mr Brown, takes the drill duties of the Troop, receives a salary, is very competent and much respected. And no change is expected. Has no knowledge of Cooper's business but business is at a very low ebb.

1261 [undated]. E Baker Esq M.P.
Refers to attempts of certain parties here to rate owners instead of occupiers [see 1250, 1253]. Discusses forthcoming second reading of the bill and asks Mr Baker to present the petition if Mr Bennet is not at the House.

1265 [undated]. Arthur Baker Esq, 5 Great George Street North, Dublin.
[Grimstead]: Encloses letter from the executors of Mr Wynch who are waxing wrath.
Asks for directions on the subject. Tubbs has died. And his son now residing in the farm is joined in the lease and appears anxious to renew it. Suggests farm is surveyed so fixing the annual value.

Seeks an opinion on a clause in the bill by which the owner of a property worth more than £10 a year would be liable to the rate. Will be at Cannington House and Thornhill House the following week. Col Baker has presented the petition.

1267 [undated]. Messrs Grieve, Grillie and Morgan.
Intends to procure the amount of their bill from Brown who is from home.¹

1. Letter is crossed through in red ink, with note: 'This letter was not sent as Mr Brown called before it went to post to say that he had paid the money to Messrs Grieve and Grely. JMP'

1273 2 March 1830. Sir William Freemantle, etc, etc, [sic] London.
The person who was to erect the billiard table at Clarendon has not conformed to Sir Frederick’s [Bathurst] direction that it be fixed on solid piers above the cellar groins. The old bookcases are defective and will cost more to reassemble. Work will be completed on the house in a fortnight except for the entrance hall. Wishes work not specifically agreed to be valued before his assistant leaves for another post. In a postscript notes that Mr Hughes says he has completed the table, thinks it unnecessary to strengthen the floor and wishes to be advanced £6.

Annexes plan and section of hall and staircase referred to when examining model. Asks how much it will cost to heat the space.¹

1. See 1206, note 1.

Prepared to subscribe to the draft lease of Mrs Thomas’s property for seven years, but only subject to some changes about payment for property tax and repair. State of the property which demands caution when binding himself on execution to a repairing lease, the consequences of which he frequently sees in his professional avocation. Does not wish to take advantage of Mrs Thomas. An early decision is needed as much must be done before the house is habitable.

1276 [undated]. Mr Porter.
Cannot agree the ladies’ wishes to substitute corbels for columns.¹ Has returned from London with the gout and cannot visit. The altar with its dressing and the painting should fill a large part of the end wall. Asks for sketch of the Reverend Mother’s² and Rev Mr Lee’s wishes.

1283 [undated]. Mr Goodfellow.
'On the receipt of your letter proposing to pay two thirds of the sum for which you stand engaged for your father I wrote stating his want of means as described by you. I have permission from the parties for whom I act to acquiesce in your proposal and cancel the note upon the understanding that if Mr Goodfellow should ever be in a situation to enable him to pay the difference that he will pledge his word to do so.'

[see 1275]. Premises must be repaired before payment will start.

1285 [undated]. R. Edwards Esq, Castle Street [Holborn, London].

1293 21 March 1830. Rt Hon Sir William Freemantle.
Agrees that the estimate for the ballustr [sic] was 5s. per foot, but to that has to be added the cost of carriage, packing cases, wrought iron sinking screws and labour for fixing, so that the total must exceed £10.

1294 [undated]. Mr Garbett (Garbutt), architect, Winchester.
Does not have the valuations of the horticultural dilapidations. Asks for details so that their statements should not clash.

to the Incorporated Society for Repairing and Rebuilding Churches for aid based on resources of £100 from Lord Normanton, £100 from the Cambridge parties, £50 from the Bishop of Winchester. Rev Furey would himself contribute £50, and not altogether unfounded.

if he has the advantage of prayers in the edifice to be erected will consider himself overpaid.

Waiting valuation from a practical bellhanger, taken to Broadlands to ascertain value of the work and what the charge should have been. With a liberal addition for labour the cost of hanging eight new bells and rehanging and repairing thirty old ones

There will be no material difficulty in removing the partition between the bedroom and dressing room.

1367 20 May 1830. Mr Haywood, governor, house of correction, Devizes.

1382 25 May 1830. Mr Stephen Essington, Malmesbury. 'I did receive your former letter containing a demand on the county of Wilts for repairs stated to be done, of which I know nothing and for which I never gave any orders. Nor can I discover on surveying the bridge any evidence of work done. I therefore requested Mr Mark Hanks to make enquiries on the subject and when next I visit Malmesbury will give you notice that the subject may be fairly investigated. Meanwhile I will thank you not to write to me again on the business, or if you do that you will pay the postage of your letter.'

travelling expenses.

1400 9 June 1830. Rev C Wrottesley, [East] Knoyle. Regrets not appreciating wishes about the lime used at East Knoyle church. But the prices may be fairly accounted from recalculation to more than two rods of brickwork fairly consuming 10 quarters of lime, and 142 yards of plastering.
182

1401 28 May 1830. Lord Radnor.
From a cursory survey of Alderbury Church it does not need rebuilding. Replacing defective belfry timbers and re-laying the loft floor will cost about £30 or £40. The external walls appear tolerably upright. The bulging end chancel wall needs repair and the roof should be examined. Increased accommodation can be provided by an enlarged gallery and proper disposition of the seats. And two transepts could be added near the chancel.

1. Cannington. See 1342.

Suggests to Sir William Freemantle that brick walls should be used to replace defective timber of the barn and other farm buildings. Calculates quantities of brick and suggests that labour and mortar for brick walls will be in lieu of sawing labour and nails that would be needed for timber walls.

'I have been honoured by a letter from the Marquis of Bath requesting me to execute the duty of Adjutant at the inspection of the regiment at Devizes on the 6th of October next, and also informing me that you have kindly consented to take the command of the regiment on that occasion.

'I have answered that letter [1412] by of course agreeing to meet his lordship's wishes and suggesting whether it may not be desirable that the respective troops should meet in squadrons immediately preparatory to their inspection and practice those movements it may be considered desirable for them to execute before the inspecting field officer. I will add to you what I have not hinted to his lordship that if my services can be made available in preparing the troops for inspection by drilling the different squadrons I will do so with great pleasure provided the regimental fund is rich enough to pay my travelling expenses while in execution of this duty.

'I cannot help feeling that this arrangement will occasion considerable dissatisfaction, the only consolation to be derived is that any arrangements would do the same. The outlying troops who are to assemble at Devizes can scarcely do so with less than 3 days for which I learn from his lordship they are to receive one day's pay.

'I know they will say it will only have been 3 days more had we performed the whole of the duty for which we should have received the 6 days pay, and I am greatly deceived if some of our gentlemen bearing commissions do not also reason somewhat in the same manner.

'I am with sincere respect, Sir, your faithful and obedient servant.'

26 June 1830. Messrs Brockway and Tayler, East Knoyle, Wilts.
Reminds them of an outstanding account of £3 5s. 0d [see 968].
1438 27 June 1830. Mrs Knight, Court House, Cannington, near Bridgewater. Reports that Haggar will be delayed in returning to Cannington.¹

1. Written by J M Peniston, on father's behalf.

1439 28 June 1830. Mr Jeffery, Wardour Castle, Wilts. Asks for measurements of walls to be covered with mastic in order to calculate quantity needed.¹

1. Written by J M Peniston, on father's behalf.

1440 28 June 1830. Mrs Fowler. Encloses a plan.

1. MS Friday evening 9PM June 28.

1441 28 June 1830. William Arney Esq, Close. Has confirmation of the amount from Mr Langden and asks if the matter¹ should be settled with Maffey without a regular valuation.

1. Presumably the work for Rev Campbell at Quarley See 1354, 1402.

1442 28 June 1830. Mrs Berrington, Spetisbury House. Has seen Captain Day at Bath and discussed altar windows. A lady had offered one as a present if it cost no more than £12. Has sent a strong message to Wells about completing the work on time.

1443 28 June 1830. Most Noble Marquis of Bath, Longleat, Frome. Judges the adjutant's pencilled returns to be correct and has therefore completed them.

1444 28 June 1830. Rev Henry Boucher, Hilton, Blandford. Obliged by recommendation to Rev Mr Blennerhassett. Terms for dilapidations at 2½% of the amount. Or, if very small, two guineas a day and travelling expenses.

1445 28 June 1830. Arthur Baker Esq, 5 Great George Street North, Dublin. Franked letters to himself and Mr Botley had ultimately reached their destinations. Will endeavour to meet wishes of proprietors. Reminds him that there is an outstanding account against the proprietors through the late Mr Wynch of £14 6s. 9d.
1446 4 July 1830. Mr Instone, ironmonger, Southampton.
Arranges at short notice a meeting at Upton, at Mr Doughty’s request.

1. MS ‘To be delivered as early as possible’.

1447 5 July 1830. George Atkinson, Esq.
Has examined Mr Weaving’s estimates for the house and schoolroom.
They are fair but insufficiently explicit to prevent improper advantage being taken.
Although Mr Weaving is believed honest, it could be made a condition that his work should be approved by Peniston.

1. Perhaps in Salisbury, as Atkinson held office as chamberlain. See 1379.

1448 4 July 1830. Rt Hon Lord Viscount Palmerston, Stanhope Street, London.
Will act on the instructions contained in his letter, but cannot visit Broadlands until the ensuing week.

1449 4 July 1830. Richard Cope Esq, Milford.
Supplies estimate for repairs to Rushall House totalling about £350, including offices and stable buildings.

1450 4 July 1830. Mr Jeffery, Wardour Castle, Wilts.
Has written for the mastic [1451] and will prepare to finish the room.

1451 4 July 1830. Messrs Grieve, Grellier and Morgan, Belvedere Road, Waterloo Bridge, London.
Orders 12 cwt. of best quality mastic to be forwarded immediately via Southampton.

1452 4 July 1830. Mr Haywood, House of Correction, Devizes.
Has examined bills and suggests that, as some items cannot be verified, the account

1453 12 July 1830. John Knapp Esq, Rev Mr Watkins, Bugle Street, Southampton.
Cannot meet him at Southampton as has been away from home, working 18 hours out of the 24, and has to set out to attend the magistrates at their sessions in Warminster. Intends then to reach Hartford Bridge for a meeting at Farnborough House before returning home. Hopes in the following week to meet Mr Watkins and assist him. Mrs P is much better but by no means strong, and a little nervous. Mrs P and the girls join in best wishes to Knapp and Mrs Knapp.
1454 12 July 1830. William Garbett Esq, architect, Winchester.
Arranges a meeting to enter on Miss Wyndham’s business.

1455 12 July 1830. [addressee not stated].
The account for the dilapidations of Mr Edgecombe’s house\(^1\) amounts to £7 7s. 9d., which may have to be made out on a stamp.
1. In Gigant Street, Salisbury. See 1379.

1456 12 July 1830. Most Noble Col Marquis of Bath WYC, Longleat.
Encloses regimental returns for 1829 and 1830, and comments on an apparent discrepancy. There has been an overall increase of troops from 349 to 370, but whereas the Chippenham and Marlborough troops in particular have increased, the Salisbury, Hindon and Warminster troops have diminished numbers. Queries whether the recruitment limit was not established by reference to the 1808 figure, 583 men.

1457 18 July 1830. Mr Hacker, builder, Hindon, Wilts.\(^1\)
Responds to a dispute over the cost of a door.
1. Addressed from Hartford Bridge.

1458 18 July 1830. W Garbett Esq, architect, Winchester.\(^1\) Rearranges a meeting after their respective assize weeks, which will enable them to attend the running for the King’s Plate.\(^2\) Has agreed a date to meet Mr Percy of Sherborne [see 1459].
1. Addressed from Hartford Bridge.
2. A royal plate was awarded annually at the three-day Salisbury race meeting, generally held in July or August; VCH 4, p.380.

1459 18 July 1830. Edward Percy Esq, architect, Sherborne, Dorset.\(^1\)
Arranges a meeting.
1. Addressed from Hartford Bridge.

1460 25 July 1830. Most Noble Marquis of Bath, Longleat.
Has referred to the adjutant’s papers, and finds that on the only occasion when the regiment was inspected, in June 1824, the Salisbury and Hindon troops were allowed three days pay, the remaining troops two days only. Lord Bath may from his military correspondence be able to ascertain the precise allowance on that occasion.
Cannot offer him a bed as visitors are accommodating them all at present.

1. MS omits year.

1462 25 July 1830. Messrs Smith and Bayly, solicitors, Basinghall Street, London.
At Mr Morant’s request has examined, measured and valued the works executed by Mr Thornton at Farnborough House, and believes that Thornton has grossly overcharged. His demand exceeds £6,000, but the valuation comes to under £4,000. To corroborate this opinion the accounts of brickwork are detailed, and show a glaring discrepancy. It is strange too that Mr Thornton should be charging for alterations to chimneys when a Mr Hiorts of London has already been paid on account for the work.

1. MS omits year.

1463 26 July 1830. George Morant Esq, Sunninghill, Bagshot, Surrey.
[Farnborough House]: Regrets the mistake which prevented their meeting at the Gloster Coffee House in London. Encloses a copy of the report which he has sent to Messrs Smith and Bayly [1462]. He forgot to mention to them that, when Hawkins is paid, he should be required to submit his books and vouchers. Will write again to Smith and Bayly on this matter [1464]. Has written to Mr Harding for his proposals for a garden wall but has not yet received them. Cannot send a plan for the cottages immediately because his long absence has produced a fearful arrear of business.

1. No such letter appears to have been copied into the letter-book.

1464 26 July 1830. Messrs Smith and Bayley, Basinghall Street, London.
Before paying Hawkins his claim as clerk of the works it is desirable that he should give up the whole of his books, papers, vouchers and other items connected with the works at Farnborough. If the business is taken to court the trial would be held at Winchester. Has discussed with a respectable Winchester architect what fee he would charge to remeasure and value the work. This would be 25 guineas. It would be desirable for two respectable builders also to express their opinion, for which a charge of 10 guineas each and travel expenses might be expected.

1. Presumably William Garbett, with whom he was in frequent contact at this period.

1465 26 July 1830. Edward M Foxhall Esq, architect, 18 South Audley Street, London.
Had been asked by Rev Mr Watkins to help his tradesmen to interpret Foxhall’s instructions, since like Foxhall Peniston is a catholic chapel builder. Concerned that Mr Watkins, in his anxiety to complete the chapel, may have expressed himself unreasonably towards Foxhall, and hopes that this will not prevent him from receiving further assistance. Discusses carpentry and plastering, and offers (since he is frequently in the neighbourhood) to act as Foxhall's clerk of works, and will have working drawings prepared from his sketches if desired.

1466 26 July 1830. Mr Lawrence, carpenter, Hindon. Discusses disputed allowances for various items, and suggests a day when Lawrence might call. If not at home, Peniston's son will be able to deal with the matter. Has no personal objection to referring the dispute to Mr Fisher, but not without his employer's consent.

1467 26 July 1830. William Garbett Esq, architect, Winchester. Cannot attend a meeting on the date proposed. ¹

1468 28 July 1830. Richard Attwood Esq. Has examined his bills and returns them, but requires further particulars of quantities in order to determine Bastable's bill. Longs to see Attwood about Farnborough, but at present has not a moment to spare.

1469 28 July 1830. George Morant Esq, Sunninghill, Bagshot, Surrey. [Farnborough House]: Intends to set out for Newbury for an appointment, and then travel on to London. Asks that a note fixing a meeting be left for him at the Gloster Coffee House. Postage should be paid on the letter, or else they might decline to receive it in his absence.

1470 28 July 1830. Mr Hagger. Will endeavour to visit Cannington at about the time when Dr Baines is expected. Discusses details of columns and the roof, preferring the original plan. Offers best respects to the ladies and Rev Mr Dullard.

1471 28 July 1830. Mr Jeffery, Wardour Castle. The mastic for Mr Parker's house has arrived, and the plasterer will be ready to execute the work during the ensuing week.

1472 29 July 1830. Rt Hon Earl of Normanton, Somerley, Ringwood. Has made enquiries about coaches, and gives details of coaches from Salisbury to Bath and from Bath to Gloucester.
1473 31 July 1830. Mr Trapp, bricklayer, Warminster.
Gives instructions for making a drain at Codford Bridge.¹

1. Written by J M Peniston, on father's behalf.

Is away from home, and will be engaged all next week.¹

1. Written by J M Peniston, on father's behalf.

1475 8 Aug. 1830. Most Noble the Marquis of Bath, Longleat, Warminster.
Letter and enclosure have been forwarded to Peniston, who is from home.¹

1. Written by J M Peniston, on father's behalf.

1476 13 Aug. 1830. Mrs Berrington, Spetisbury House, near Blandford.
Apologizing for his father's absence, J M Peniston can see no reason why the workmen cannot comply with her wishes of repairing the altar at Spetisbury. He will visit next week if his father does not return.¹

1. Written by J M Peniston, on father's behalf.

1477 15 Aug. 1830. Rev Mr Casey, Marnhull Cottage, Dorset.
Will arrange to visit on his return home.¹

1. Written by J M Peniston, on father's behalf. This letter has been struck through, but a marginal note reads, 'This letter was afterwards sent'.

No grating is needed. J M Peniston arranges to meet at Codford.³

1. MS omits year. Hereafter the year is usually omitted in the MS.
2. Written by J M Peniston, on father's behalf.

1479 15 Aug. 1830. Rev Archdeacon Macdonald, Bishop's Cannings (B Cannings), Devizes.
Since it is his turn to nominate a boy for admission to an education in the school of the Bear Club,¹ agrees to nominate George Coles, residing in Devizes Green. Is concerned that the nomination was required by 12 Aug., but has only just returned home after a long absence. Asks that the cause of the delay should be made clear.

1. An educational and apprenticing charity, originating in a social gathering at the Bear Inn, 1480 15 Aug. 1830. Rt Hon Sir William Freemantle, Stanhope Street, London. Apologizes for not having had time to complete the account of extras. Encloses a copy of a note which he has received from Mr Hunt, the clockmaker.

1. Name poorly written. Henry Hunt and Son were Salisbury watch and clock makers: P.

1481 15 Aug. 1830. Mr W Daniel, Warminster. Remits £15 8s. payment for bricks used at Codford Bridge, apologizes for the delay, and asks for a stamped receipt.

1482 15 Aug. 1830. Most Noble the Marquess of Bath, Longleat, Warminster. Cannot immediately complete the return of arms required by the Board of Ordnance, but will do so at the earliest opportunity. Confirms that the strength of the regiment at the period referred to had been 541, leaving 494 after the 47 members of the Everley troop are deducted. The 1808 return totalled 583, less 50 in the Everley troop, but probably better to confine themselves to the numbers stated in correspondence.

"Lieut Col Baker being from home prevents my having the benefit of his advice on the subject, but I most respectfully submit to your Lordship whether in the present state of political affairs it may not be desirable to reserve the power of completing your numbers to the establishment allowed. It is with great deference I make these remarks, but your Lordship will always have the power of reducing your numbers should circumstances render it desirable."

1483 15 Aug. 1830. Rev James Watkins, Bugle Street, Southampton. Wrote to Mr Foxhall [1465], who refused very ungraciously any further assistance. Peniston's son has retrieved the drawing sent to Foxhall, has discussed the business with Peniston, and will call on Rev Watkins to leave directions with the workmen.

1485 15 Aug. 1830. Mr Hagger. Circumstances prevented him from being at Cannington to meet Rev Bishop Dr Baines, but will visit as early as possible. Discusses progress on the chapel. Suggests that Mr Carver (surveyor for the county of Somerset) may recommend a competent slater. Will send a plasterer when required. Has advanced Mrs Haggar £5 as requested. Conveys to the Mr Knights the kindest wishes of their brother, a priest whom Peniston met at New Hall convent in Essex.
Encloses a letter from Rev Mareste for his perusal and reply, and expresses anxiety about the delay which Peniston's absence will cause. Has written to Rev Mareste observing that any arrangements should be adjusted before Michaelmas.

Sincerely laments his situation in France, and hopes to make arrangements which will afford the good ladies and himself a tranquil and comfortable asylum in the chapel houses. Apologizes for the delay, but has sent Mareste's letter to the bishop, and has no doubt that he will be acquiescent. However, the houses are occupied, and some time must elapse before Mareste and the ladies could be accommodated. The arrangements should be made before Michaelmas.

Acknowledges a letter, and is surprised and hurt by part of its contents. Recounts the arrangements for valuing the items undertaken which were extra to the original contract, and lists them. Is hurt by the implication that Peniston has tried to vitiate the original contract, which he feels is not merited. Asks that an independent arbiter be appointed to determine for what Peniston is entitled to charge, and to fix the value.

1489 22 Aug. 1830. Mr Haywood, House of Correction, Devizes.
Will visit Devizes on his way to Bath, and hopes to see Mr Edmonstone there.

Asks that the stays for the railing at Codford Bridge be finished, and that all loose posts be fixed.¹

1. Written by J M Peniston, on father's behalf.

Acknowledges safe arrival of two books.¹

1. Written by Sarah Peniston in the absence of both her husband and son.

1492 25 Aug. 1830. George Morant Esq, Sunninghill, Bagshot, Surrey. [Farnborough House]: Acknowledges letters notifying that Thornton has accepted the proposed terms for refereeing his work. As this may lead to a speedy adjustment suggests that work on the greenhouse be deferred. Offers to go with him to discuss the matter with Messrs Bramah when in London.
1493 29 Aug. 1830. Messrs Smith and Bayley, Basinghall Street, London.
[Farnborough House]: Expresses pleasure that Mr Thornton has agreed to the proposition and that Mr Morant has approved it. But is apprehensive of the possibility that the referee might refuse to enter into the real merits of the value of the work done, because it was done under the direction of Mr Morant's former agent, Mr Tatham. Is writing to Mr Hopperton to arrange a meeting.

1494 29 Aug. 1830. Hopperton Esq, 23 Ranelagh Street, Pimlico.
[Farnborough House]: Suggests a meeting, since Mr Thornton has appointed Hopperton to agree with Peniston the third party as referee to the dispute.

1495 29 Aug. 1830. William Minty Esq.
Having returned home last night and compelled to set out again today, has not had time to comply with his request, but will do so on his return.
1. MS Sunday morning, undated.

1496 29 Aug. 1830. Mr Thomas Hawkins jun, 44 Minshull Street, Golden Square, London.
Messrs Deacon, Williams and Co are directed to pay him the balance of his account if he leaves a stamped receipt.
1. Perhaps the clerk of works at Farnborough House. See 1463-4.

1497 31 Aug. 1830. Visiting Magistrates, House of Correction, Devizes.
Encloses a plan for an erection to accommodate the female prisoners. Discusses details. Ladders to be used instead of staircases, and the roof to be of zinc, and flat so as not to out-top the boundary wall. Estimates the expense at £314 10s.

1498 31 Aug. 1830. Mr Haywood, House of Correction, Devizes.
Encloses plan for the proposed building for female prisoners. Asks that enclosed letters [1499-1500] be sent to Messrs Burt and Carnell.

1499 31 Aug. 1830. Mr H P Burt, ironmonger, Devizes.
Asks his opinion whether a bridge constructed of iron would be eligible at Rangebourne, and seeks an estimate for iron railings to both sides of a wooden bridge at the same place.

1500 31 Aug. 1830. Mr Carnell.
Requests his proposal for Rangebourne Bridge speedily.
1501 31 Aug. 1830. Messrs Smith and Bayley, Basinghall Street, London.
[Farnborough House]: Encloses his correspondence with Mr Hopperton [see 1494, 1502], and seeks approval for the course which he has adopted.

1502 31 Aug. 1830. W Hopperton Esq, 23 Ranelagh Street, Pimlico.
[Farnborough House]: Has received his letter, which seems somewhat more dictatorial than is consistent with the equality of their appointment. Discusses the procedure to be adopted for agreeing a referee.

1503 31 Aug. 1830. Rev Mr Casey, Marnhull, Dorset.
Apologizes that he could not give notice of his visit to Marnhull, as he was returning from Cannington. Discusses architectural details which he has directed Harding and Johnson to undertake subject to Casey's approval. Regrets that Harding has not followed his directions about the roof.

1505 3 Sept. 1830. Most Noble the Marquess of Bath, Longleat.

1506 3 Sept. 1830. Sir William Freemantle.
Rearranges a meeting at Clarendon.

1. Written by J M Peniston, on father's behalf.

1507 3 Sept. 1830. Richard Cooe Esq.
Submits cheque for £60, being three years' interest due on Lord Arundell's property in St Martin's Church Street. Asks for a receipt.

1508 10 Sept. 1830. W Garbett Esq, architect, Winchester.
'Ve fear you will be of opinion that I had forgotten our engagement altogether. It is not so, but a series of uncontrollable circumstances have [sic] driven me from place to place for the last months that I have not been for any one time 48 hours at home.' Arranges a meeting at Winchester for the morning after his return from a magistrates' meeting at Devizes.
1509 10 Sept. 1830. Mr Matthews, builder, Frimley, Surrey.

1510 10 Sept. 1830. Messrs Carson and Miller, Warminster.
Discusses the stays at Codford Bridge. It is very important to get the morticed stones properly run with lead so that the posts are immovable. Urges haste as the Michaelmas sessions is the only occasion when accounts can be passed. Requires similar posts and railings for Fonthill Bridge.

Did not receive letter sent by his brother to Hartford Bridge. Arranges a meeting.

1512 10 Sept. 1830. Capt Lord Bruce, Savernake Lodge, Tottenham Park [and others].
Is requested by Lt Col Baker to call attention to the WYC\(^2\) regimental inspection during the ensuing month, and recommends that troops assemble in pairs to practice the parade movements.\(^3\)

1. The letter was sent also to the following captains: Lord Andover, Malmesbury; Locke, Rowdeford House; Wyndham, Dinton House; Starkie, Spye Park; Goddard, Swindon; Long, at Mr Lawrances's, Warminster; Phipps, Wans House.
2. Wiltshire Yeomanry Cavalry.
3. Peniston signs as Acting Adjutant.

1513 11 Sept. 1830. Mr Hagger.

1514 11 Sept. 1830. Mr Moore, carpenter, Upton House.
Asks him to lose no time finishing at Upton as other work is waiting.

'I had forgotten when I addressed you a few hasty lines of congratulation to you [sic] from Marnhull to inform you that I was there but a bird of passage, but I believe I left my address as above (Close, Salisbury) with Sir John Tyrell, which is my home when I can get here. This has been very rarely of late.

'I am much pleased to learn your expences do not exceed your expectation. I am only sorry you think it necessary to increase them on my account. I do assure you I neither wished nor expected it, but after what has passed I will not risk offending you by a further refusal. And however I may regret the cause which limits the amount of your wishes it more than equals mine. My gratification has been of a higher cast. To serve my much valued friend Hopper was the first motive. I could not reside long at Boreham House without others springing up, independent of a little ill-natured gratification arising from opposing Long Wellesley. By the bye I am not at all surprised at him and his friend Dan falling out. I charitably hope they may be enabled to torment each other.

‘Have the kindness to present my most respectful regards to Sir John Tyrell, and congratulatory remembrances to such of our committee as will do me the honor to receive them. More particularly to the Rev George Tuffnell with whose zeal and energy in your cause I was much delighted.’

1516 12 Sept. 1830. Rev B Marest, Volognes, Cherbourg, France. Had assumed that Dr Baines had replied to his letter [see 1486-7], but having called at Prior Park, discovered that he had not done so, and referred Peniston to Lord Arundell. His only objection was that the premises might not be extensive enough to receive the ladies without considerable expense to enlarge them. Lord Arundell and Rev Mr Parker suggested a house in Shaftesbury belonging to Lord Grosvenor, now inhabited but about to be quitted. Invites Rev Marest to come over and judge for himself, making Peniston's house his headquarters while in England.

1. Next to the address is written 'Mr Devereux, Gosport, Hants'; and vertically across the letter is 'A Monsieur, Monsieur B Marestes, Aux Carmelites Anglaise, Torigni Pres St Lo, Dept. de la Manche, a Torigni.'

1517 12 Sept. 1830. Mr Kent, Chancery Lane, London. Apologizes that he did not, as intended, answer the letter received in London. Has not communicated with the committee since leaving Chelmsford on the Friday preceding the termination of the Essex election. Is ready to bear testimony to Kent's assiduity and utility, but is unwilling to interfere unasked with the arrangements.

1. See 1515 note 1.

1518 12 Sept. 1830. W Hopperton Esq, 23 Ranelagh Street, London. [Farnborough House]: From Hopperton's list selects Mr Charles Adams, and submits his own list from which Hopperton is to select. Proposes a meeting to decide which of the two names selected is then chosen.

1519 12 Sept. 1830. Messrs Smith and Bayley, Basinghall Street, London. [Farnborough House]: Informs them that, having consulted Mr Hopper and Mr Bramah, he has selected Mr Charles Adams, and drawn up his own list of six names. Also consulted Mr Hopper about approaching Higgins to value the work at Farnborough, but this would be expensive, and the umpire selected would probably measure the work himself. Seeks advice and asks of any other circumstances which would render further delay desirable.
1520 14 Sept. 1830. Mr Wells, carpenter, Spetisbury House.
The dimensions taken the other day were insufficient to complete the new plan, and asks for specific measurements.¹

1. Signed by J M Peniston. MS note: 'A copy of this letter was sent to Mr Wells on the 16th of Sept. his plans not being correct.'

1521 14 Sept. 1830. Rt Hon Lord Arundell, Wardour Castle, Wilts.
Forwards a circular from Lord Bath for the march of his troop to assemble with the regiment at Devizes on 5 Oct. Discusses glass for a skylight. Peniston is at present laid by with the gout and has sad prospects for military duty. Asks for a frank addressed to James Peniston, Stony Hurst.

[Farnborough House]: Agrees that a meeting is desirable to determine the referee, but unable to travel because of gout. Invites Hopperton to visit him at Salisbury, otherwise he will attempt to travel to Hartford Bridge.

1523 15 Sept. 1830. Mr Crook, Governor, Marlborough (Marlbro') Bridewell.
Returns his bills approved. Has no hesitation in accepting the correctness of Mr Brown's charges.

1524 15 Sept. 1830. Mr Bastable, carpenter, Shaftesbury.
Acknowledges a parcel. Cannot settle account [see 1468] until the thatcher's bill is supplied.

1525 16 Sept. 1830. W Hopperton Esq, Gloster Coach Office, Piccadilly.
[Farnborough House]: Although considerably better, cannot travel on medical advice. Asks if Hopperton will continue his journey to Salisbury.

1526 18 Sept. 1830. Mr Wells, carpenter, Spetisbury House, near Blandford.
The drawing he has sent is of no use. Reiterates the measurements required, with a sketch.¹

1527 18 Sept. 1830. Mr Marsh, mason, Tisbury, Wilts.
Asks him to call for directions about a bridge.¹

1. Written by J M Peniston on his father's behalf.
[Farnborough House]: Thornton v Morant. Informs Adams that he has been named as sole referee under a judge's order, in consequence of an action pending in the Court of Common Pleas. Suggests a meeting at Farnborough Place.¹

1. Signed by Hopperton and Peniston.

Encloses the regimental return sent by the Board of Ordnance, but has filled the blanks in pencil only, not understanding exactly how it should be filled up. Discusses discrepancies and uncertain calculations.

Writes on behalf of Mr Robert Mackrell about a bill of more than £18 for work done in 1825-6, which remains unpaid. Suggests a meeting during the ensuing sessions at Marlborough to discuss the matter.

1531 20 Sept. 1830. Mr Jeffrey, Wardour Castle, Wils.
Can dispose of a cask of mastic if sent to Salisbury the next day.¹

1532 21 Sept. 1830. Mr Haywood, House of Correction, Devizes.
Encloses with son's plans for the prison some plans and an estimate for Rangebourne Bridge. Asks Haywood to submit these to Mr Edmonston recommending that Mr Carnell's (Carnal's) proposal be accepted, and if it is that he should lose no time in undertaking the work.

Thornton v Morant. Suggests travel and other arrangements for their meeting at Farnborough House. Is travelling to London and may be reached at 29 Norfolk Street, Park Lane. Is at a loss to say what time may be employed in the investigation.

1534 21 Sept. 1830. W Hopperton Esq, 23 Ranelagh Street, Pimlico.¹

1. MS London, struck through.

1535 21 Sept. 1830. Mr Stanford, T Hopper Esq, 1 Sovereign Street, Connaught Terrace, London.
Asks whether Mr Hopper is in London, and whether a message to him or a meeting can be arranged.
1536 [undated]. Mr Haywood. [Devizes Penitentiary]: Encloses two plans of the proposed female ward, and discusses details and estimates.

1. Signed by J M Peniston, and with a note, 'written on the same sheet as Mr P's'.

1537 22 Sept. 1830. Mr Dyer, blacksmith, Stapleford. Invites Dyer to collect a cheque from his office for the amount of the bill.

1538 22 Sept. 1830. Mrs Berrington, Spetisbury House, Blandford. Peniston has left for London. Before the plan can be completed needs from Wells details of a doorway. Wells has been sent three letters [1520, 1526] but does not appear to understand what is required.

1. Signed by J M Peniston; sketch included.

1539 22 Sept. 1830. Rev Mr Watkins, Bugle Street, Southampton. Asks to be excused the delay, caused by Peniston's confinement.

1540 23 Sept. 1830. Mr Hagger, carpenter, Court House, Cannington, near Bridgwater. Has not received a reply to his request for a plan [1513], and cannot prepare to finish the interior. Asks for immediate attention.

1541 23 Sept. 1830. Edward Doughty Esq, Upton House, near Poole, Dorset. Awaits the return of a workman who will then be sent to Upton immediately. J M Peniston will meet him there to give directions.

1542 24 Sept. 1830. W Hopperton Esq, 23 Ranelagh Street, London. Received his letter at Farnborough five minutes too late to catch a coach to London. Sorely laments having literally wasted four days. Explains his movements, and regrets that Hopperton did not keep the appointment. Cannot arrange another meeting until 8 Oct., either at Hartford Bridge or Farnborough.
1543 24 Sept. 1830. Charles Adams Esq, Elm Cottage, Chelsea, London. [Farnborough House]: Encloses a copy of his letter to Hopperton [1542], explaining his movements and suggesting a future meeting.

1. MS 5 pm.

1544 24 Sept. 1830. Messrs Smith & Bayley. Reports that he waited at Farnborough one day and part of another to keep his appointment with Messrs Adams and Hopperton. Having received notice of Mr Adams acceptance, travelled to London to discuss the business with Mr Morant, and with Smith and Bayley. Learnt, however, that they were both out of London. Did not realise that the agreement needed signature before entering into the business. Received Hopperton's letter at Farnborough breaking the appointment too late to return by coach to London. Cannot arrange another meeting until 8 Oct. On Mr Hopper's advice determined not to employ a London surveyor to measure the work, and will now endeavour to make Mr Adams survey it himself. If he will not do this will throw the whole into day work to reduce Mr Morant's losses. Will use the delay to correspond with Mr Hopper on the subject, and as he is a London architect of some celebrity will endeavour to throw his weight into Peniston's zeal to counterbalance the deficiencies his country breeding may produce in the mind of Mr Adams.

1. MS Hopperton, but Hopper is clearly intended. See 1545, 1552.

1545 24 Sept. 1830. George Morant Esq, 29 Norfolk Street, Park Lane, London. [Farnborough House]: Recounts the missed appointment and the confusion over the referee's signature. Will correspond with Mr Hopper, as his name and connections will carry weight with London surveyors. Reports on work by Matthews and Harding's men at Farnborough.

1546 24 Sept. 1830. H Percy Esq, architect, Sherborne, Dorset. Suggests two dates for a meeting to enter the Dorsetshire business, but if these are inconvenient proposes requesting that someone else be named, as he will not be able to meet until late in October.

1. MS 7 pm.
2. Probably Ryme Intrinseca dilapidations. See 1572.

1547 25 Sept. 1830. Benjamin Wingrove Esq, Trowbridge. Expresses his condolences on the death of Wingrove's son [Anthony Wingrove], for whom he had the sincerest respect, but whose delicate health must in some measure have prepared Wingrove for this unfortunate result. Requests accounts and discusses the previous year's vouchers.
1548 25 Sept. 1830. Mr Fowler, Melksham.
Sends a cheque and asks for a stamped receipt.

1549 25 Sept. 1830. Mr Strong, Pewsey.
Sends a cheque and asks for a stamped receipt.

1550 26 Sept. 1830. Lieut Pitt, Malmesbury Troop, directed to Joseph Pitt Esq, MP, Eastcourt, Malmesbury.
Encloses a list of the accustomed parade movements of the regiment, and discusses details. Has applied to Mr Pettit relative to Pitt's letter. He has had no communication with the troop since Mr Hanks' application for appointment, for which he had given directions.¹

1551 25 Sept. 1830. The Commissioners of the Sarum and Eling (Ealing) Turnpikes.
Has surveyed the tollhouse being erected at Totton, reports that it is very fairly executed, and recommends the contractor be advanced £80.

1552 27 Sept. 1830. Thomas Hopper Esq, 1 Sovereign Street, Connaught Terrace [London].
Recounts the events which have delayed determination of the Farnborough business, and describes in detail how he and Mr Alason¹ had been asked to survey the work. The builder's gross bill, including measured work, a day bill, and a bill for freightage and sundries, totalled £6188. Peniston's valuation would not allow more than £3794, and his opinion was that the frightful difference derived from fraudulent intention in making up the accounts. Wishes to throw the entire accounts overboard and rely on the referee measuring the work; or if this fails to throw the whole into day work. Requests a meeting at Farnborough with Hopper professionally, so that he can explain these matters and so that Hopper can see the nature of the works executed.

Understands from Mr Beare that Lord Arundell intends to stay at the White Hart, and invites him instead to stay at his house, where there will be room for his valet also. Asks for a frank for the enclosed letter to Hopper [1552]. Hopes to join the campaign although some rheumatism remains.
1554 27 Sept. 1830. G Morant Esq, 29 Norfolk Street, Park Lane, London.

[Farnborough House]: Is pleased that his arrangements with Harding and Stewart are acceptable. Has received a letter from Mr Hopperton asking him to try to procure from Mr Morant a cheque for whatever Peniston considers due to Mr Thornton. Believe that this attempt is partly to get some money, but also to elucidate the extent and nature of his opposition. Encloses a copy of his reply [1555], and suggests that Morant acquaints Messrs Smith and Bayley.

1555 27 Sept. 1830. W Hopperton Esq, 23 Ranelagh Street, Pimlico.

Has forwarded to Mr Morant with his own observations Hopperton's request on the part of Mr Thornton, but does not anticipate acquiescence, the final discussion of the business being so near at hand.

1556 27 Sept. 1830. Secretary of the committee appointed to conduct a ball and supper, Post Office, Devizes.

Apologizes for his long delay in accepting the invitation to attend the ball and supper at Devizes. Mrs Peniston cannot attend.¹

1. Peniston signs as Lieut WYC, so this function was presumably connected with the regimental assembly.

1557 28 Sept. 1830. Mr Hagger, Court House, Cannington, Bridgwater.

Is aware that the expenses at Cannington will exceed the estimate, and for that reason requires the bills, so that the ladies might be fully aware of their expenditure. Does not wish to find fault, but the ladies must be aware of the likely expense before work begins. Proposes a visit with J M Peniston, but not until late Oct.

Informs him of a circumstance relating to their Trust which has come to light. Has learnt that Mrs Harrington has been drawing unauthorized sums of money from London bankers. Is more anxious, therefore, to wind up the concern as proposed at the ensuing Christmas. Will probably be away on business at Hartford Bridge when Gibbons visits, but could meet him there.²

1. The spelling is confirmed by references in WRO 451/393.
2. Name poorly written.
3. See 850 note 1.

Taking advantage of a frank, confirms a meeting at Sherborne.
1560 1 Oct. 1830. Mrs M C Knight, Court House, Cannington.
Acknowledges with considerable pain her letter. Discusses unauthorized expenses incurred on the work at Cannington, for which Hagger is much to blame [see 1557]. Disagrees with Mr Padden's prices for plasterwork, and if Padden is to undertake the work Peniston wishes to decline having any more to do with the business, considering him incompetent. Cannot visit Cannington until late October. Meanwhile work can continue if she wishes, but she has the power to stop it at any time and discharge the workmen. Expresses regret if he is not to have the power to serve her, and wishes his successors better fortune. Regrets it the more as he has had the gratification of seeing Spetisbury Chapel completed.

1561 1 Oct. 1830. Mr Hagger.
Reports on the letter which he has received from the mother prioress complaining of the amount of the bills. The complaint is reasonable as the ladies should have been informed of the additional expenses. Regrets that the reverend mother wishes Padden to execute the plastering, and if she is determined will decline any further direction of the business. Hopes that Hagger will do nothing further to shake the ladies' confidence.

1562 1 Oct. 1830. Messrs Smith and Bayley, Basinghall Street, London.
[Farnborough House]: Encloses copies of the letter to Hopper and his reply, from which it appears Peniston must rely on the integrity and independence of the umpire. Assumes that the meeting on 8th Oct. will take place.

1. MS note see last letter book, i.e. 1552.

[Farnborough House]: Queries whether their meeting for 8 Oct. stands, and requests immediate reply. Has not heard back from Mr Morant about Hopperton's letter referred to him.

1564 1 Oct. 1830. Mr Moore, Upton House, near Poole.
Wishes to hear by return if he is able to travel from Upton to Clarendon, where the fittings should now be finished. Should bring his accounts with him.

1565 1 Oct. 1830. Messrs Grieve, Grellier and Morgan, Belvedere Road, Waterloo Bridge.
Orders three casks of coarse plaster by Southampton.
1566 5 Oct. 1830. G Morant Esq, 29 Norfolk Street, Park Lane, London.
[Farnborough House]: At Smith and Bayley's wish encloses copies of the letter to Mr Hopper and his reply.\(^1\) Assumes that the meeting still stands.

1. MS notes, see last letter book Sept. 27; see the letter for Sept. 30, 1830, i.e. 1552.

1567 8 Oct. 1830. Mr Trapp, bricklayer, Warminster.

'What madness could induce you to extend your drain at Codford 100 yards instead of 100 feet as directed? You were present and assisted to measure it when Col A'Court and Mr Biggs directed where it should begin and where end. Mr Bennett of Codford told you you were wrong and that you had no business to go further than the county road extended, and begged you not to do it - yet you persisted and would do it. The county certainly will not pay you for more than 100 feet and I think it most likely the commissioners of the road will compel you to take up the drain that is on their part of the road, and leave the ditch as you found it. Indeed I think it is the best thing you can do, and endeavour to sell the bricks, as you must be accountable to Mr Daniell for those that are not used for the county road.'

1568 8 Oct. 1830. George Morant Esq, 29 Norfolk Street, Park Lane, London.
[Farnborough House]: Reports that the umpire has fixed a meeting at the Swan Inn, Blackwater, for the investigation of Mr Thornton's accounts. Solicitors are not to be present, but it is desirable that Morant be in the neighbourhood of Farnborough in case any communication with him proves necessary.

Requests a meeting with someone from the firm on the day after the referee's meeting at Farnborough. Recalls earlier discussion about heating the green house, and now wishes an opinion on heating the entrance hall.

1570 9 Oct. 1830. Mr Strong, Pewsey.
Requests a stamped receipt for the cheque before the ensuing sessions.\(^1\)

1. Written by M P Harris, on uncle's behalf.

1571 9 Oct. 1830. Mr Marsh, mason, Tisbury.
Requests accounts, including that for Fonthill Bridge if it is finished, in time for the sessions.\(^1\)

1. Written by J M Peniston, on father's behalf.
Sends account of dilapidations at Ryme Intrinscia, totalling £58 16s 3d., and discusses a legal point concerning drains on glebe land.¹

1. See also 1578.

1573 9 Oct. 1830. Mr Carnell.
Enquires about the state of the work on Rangebourne Bridge. If complete J M Peniston will survey it so that the bill can be passed at the sessions.

1574 9 Oct. 1830. Mr Flooks, Wilton.
Submits a statement relative to the Grimstead quit rents, addressed to T Baker at Michaelmas 1830.

1. MS Saturday evening, undated.

Returns drawings and papers relative to the alteration of St Michael's church, Southampton, with his account including expenses for examining them [see 1027].

1576 13 Oct. 1830. Messrs Smith and Bayley.¹
Reports on progress over the Farnborough business. Monday was wasted as Mr Hopperton and others had to be sworn. On Tuesday Thornton showed his accounts and made a very strong case. Peniston recounted his involvement, and the mode of his valuation, and suggested that the same mode should be adopted again. The umpire was unwilling to do this. Peniston detailed items in the accounts which indicated fraud, and then proposed the concession that Thornton be allowed his time and materials and reasonable profits. Mr Adams regarded this as honourable and liberal, but did not please Thornton, who, however, could hardly refuse.²

1. Addressed from Hartford Bridge.
2. A marginal note, headed 6 pm., reports further progress, and notes reckless expense incurred in the carriage of materials.

Reports on the Farnborough enquiry. The parties worked late on Wednesday and continued on Thursday. The business was not quite finished, but insufficient remained to detain them another day, and Peniston returned home in order to attend sessions.
The umpire's conduct is very satisfactory, and he is aware of the improvident expenditure incurred. He approves of Peniston's mode of settling the account, and is at a loss to ascertain how, from a survey of the building, the money claimed could have been expended. Peniston should hear from Mr Adams before he makes his final award.
The chancel was overlooked when they surveyed Ryme Intrinseca. Requests Percy to cover any deficiencies in this respect, expressing perfect confidence in his judgement.

Could not meet in Salisbury as had to obey an order to attend the city sessions.
Suggests a date to meet on their long protracted enquiry after the county sessions.

1. Perhaps in connection with Miss Wyndham's premises. See 1605.

Forwards the present year's county accounts, and apologizes for not attending in person. His son should be able to explain anything not apparent from the books themselves.

1581 18 Oct. 1830. Mr Carnell, builder, Devizes.
Agrees that the planking may be carried over the beams, instead of being notched into them.1

1. Apparently written by J M Peniston on his father's behalf. The work may be Rangebourne Bridge. See 1573.

[Farnborough House]: Copies a letter from Mr Adams, and his answer to Adams's queries [1583].

[Farnborough House]: Replies to queries. The total paid by Mr Morant to Mr Thornton is £3,525 10s. The value of some old iron may be set against this. Draws attention to apparently excessive wages paid at Farnborough. Mr Morant's butler, Busby, and the builder, Mr Matthews, are both sworn, and will be truthful in giving information, although the latter's observations may be thought to be coloured a little too high.
Discusses Peniston's own expenses for four or five days at the enquiry. 'PS My son requests me to thank you for your kind remembrances, and to apologize for the abrupt way in which he took his departure. He had a fair1 excuse to offer for his forgetfulness.'

1. MS fair, underlined.

1584 21 Oct. 1830. G Morant Esq, 29 Norfolk Street, Park Lane.
Copies the letter from Mr Adams, and his answer [1583]. Surprised not to have heard from Messrs Harding and Stewart. Has written from time to time to Messrs Smith and Bayley, and is now awaiting with no trifling anxiety the result of the Farnborough business.
1585 22 Oct. 1830. Mr H P Burt, Devizes.
Encloses dimensions of balcony at Clarendon House. George Peniston is sending to Burt a tool chest by way of Bristol, for which he has paid freightage and expenses.¹

1. Written by J M Peniston.

Accepts commission to inspect and report on new buildings at Dorset Lunatic Asylum. Asks for the name of any person able to supply local information to be sent to him by return, or else to the Antelope Inn, Dorchester.

Has examined and completed the paylist returns, and hopes that the accounts may pass without further comment.

[Farnborough House]: Reports that Messrs Smith and Bayley considered the lawyers' cost not worth addressing, but describes further expenses in connection with the enquiry which Peniston incurred, involving a journey to London and a wasted journey to Farnborough. Another minor expense was for Matthews to attend at Farnborough as a witness for Mr Morant.

[Farnborough House]: Cannot give any good reason why he omitted to copy part of his letter to Mr Adams referring to his expenses [see 1582]. Recounts his other expenses as detailed to Mr Adams [1588].

Acknowledges a handsome pecuniary compliment, but values infinitely more the kind opinions expressed about him. Wellesley’s intention of petitioning against Tyrell’s return is news to him, and surely must be deemed frivolous and vexatious. Is truly sorry to hear of the death of the Duke of Athol, which will also doubtless be much regretted by Mr Hopper. Has had a hasty correspondence with Mr H, but has not yet had an opportunity of expressing personal congratulations on their success in Essex.
Sends good wishes to Sir John, and remembrances to those who fought the good fight.¹

1. See 1515.
Encloses requested accounts, and John will send a statement and valuation of the works at Figheldean. Also encloses a cheque for £9, 'being I believe the amount returned to render me independent'. The sum of 2s., however, his coach hire when he gave evidence before Cobb's immaculate bench, must be returned.

1. No addressee, but letter begins, 'Dear Cobb'. James Cobb was a Salisbury attorney: P. The circumstances of the letter are obscure, but may in part be related to the Grimstead estate. See 1620.

Mr Stewart called at the house while Peniston was away. He declines to estimate for the works at Farnborough, but will undertake them subject to Peniston's valuation. Does Morant wish to employ him before the final adjustment with Thornton? Expresses anxiety about the expected decision of Mr Adams.

Must discuss with Mr Payne the increased prices which he has allowed before consenting to his valuation. Will arrange a meeting, but this cannot be before Millett's visit to Lord Calthorpe.

1594 30 Oct. 1830. - Woolaston Esq, Dorchester.
Forwards the lunatic asylum survey [see 1586] and will be pleased to answer any queries. Has omitted this concluding paragraph from the report, and inserted it in this letter, leaving it to Woolaston's judgement whether or not to refer to it. 'In conclusion I think it my duty to observe that while I cannot but be of opinion that the architect has erred in judgement by introducing this species of arch without the necessary ties or abutments, he appears to have taken great pains in the selection of his materials and in the general execution of the different works.'

1595 30 Oct. 1830. Mr Pittman, plumber, Stalbridge, Dorset.
Expresses surprise at some items in his account, including a copper pump put up in the brewhouse, and some apparently erroneous prices for which Pittman has himself only to blame.

1. Perhaps for work at Thornhill House. See 1436.

Has forwarded the report and survey to Mr Woolaston, with a copy to Mr Gordon in London, hoping that it may meet his approval. Copies also the observation made in his letter to Woolaston [1594].
Answers points in his note. Will arrange to attend the case of the Bishop of Salisbury and Sloper. Trusts that Mrs Harrington will have time to prepare an account and explanation honourable to herself and satisfactory to the trustees. Cannot reply to her offer of £1,000 for the lease, but will co-operate with Mr Gibbons to give her preference in the disposal of the business. Has Mr Gibbons approved the sale of the wines by auction? Doubts the propriety of such a measure, about which he should have been consulted. If it is being done without Mr Gibbons’ knowledge and consent then Peniston forbids it. How is Peniston’s private claim to be disposed of?

1. MS Saturday evening, undated.

1598 31 Oct. 1830. Mr Hagger, Court House, Cannington, Bridgwater.
Intends to visit briefly, and requests that all enquiries and observations be listed for his attention, and all accounts prepared for examination.

1599 1 Nov. 1830. B Wingrove Esq, Trowbridge.
Sends money and requests a receipt for the £10 spent on Road Bridge.

1600 2 Nov. 1830. Mr Hulbert, surveyor to the Lacock Trust, Corsham.
Encloses a cheque for repairs to the roads over the three bridges at Lacock, and requests a stamped receipt. Foot Bridge is somewhat rutted and should be attended to.

1601 8 Nov. 1830. Messrs Carson and Miller.
Encloses the amount of their bill for Codford Bridge, less a deduction for bricks, and requests a stamped receipt.

1602 8 Nov. 1830. Mr George Golding, carpenter, Upton House, near Poole.
Must come to Clarendon to put the roof on, leaving the work at Upton until it is finished.

1. Written by J M Peniston, on father’s behalf.

1603 9 Nov. 1830. Messrs Bramah, Pimlico.
Encloses directions for commencing the greenhouse at Farnborough, and will write to Mr T Bramah in a few days on the subject.

1. Written by J M Peniston on his father’s behalf.
1604 10 Nov. 1830. Mr J W D Wickham, Frome.
Will give directions for the repair of the Wiltshire portion of the roads at Maiden Bradley bridges, assuming that they are the 'Woodlands Bridges' referred to by Wickham.

1605 11 Nov. 1830. Richard Attwood Esq.
Will survey Witt's work as soon as a measuring account with Mr Garbett at Miss Wyndham's is settled, probably today. The Pensworth accounts are all but ready.

1. MS Thursday morn Nov 11 1830.

1606 11 Nov. 1830. Mr Haywood, House of Correction, Devizes.
Of the timber yards in Bath is best pleased with timber in store at Mr John Lester's, near Norfolk Crescent and close to the river. Requests that Mr Young should calculate on the scantlings, and order from Lester in Peniston's name, to be sent by Mr Shaw's barge. Has made arrangements for lead, which Mr Bishop will lay, and needs an estimate of the weight required for the guttering and flashings. Will make further enquiries about slate. Asks about progress, and how the air drain proceeds.

1607 11 Nov. 1830. Benjamin Wingrove Esq, Trowbridge.
Reiterates the need for a stamped receipt.

1608 11 Nov. 1830. Rev Christopher Fawcett, Whitchurch, Hants.
Has surveyed the dilapidations at Boscombe, but has not yet completed the valuation.
Will send a copy to Mr Down of Shaftesbury as requested.

1. See 1615.

1609 11 Nov. 1830. Charles Marett Esq, Southampton.
Acknowledges with thanks a note enclosing £6 17s. 6d [see 1575].

1610 11 Nov. 1830. Timothy Bramah Esq, Pimlico.
Has sent Mr Morant's directions respecting the conservatory and water closet for Farnborough, so that work may proceed. Regrets that Bramah has been troubled by that rascally fellow at Tidworth, and offers to render any service there or elsewhere [see 1618]. 'Bill requests I will ask permission for him to spend some time at home at the ensuing Christmas.'

1. William, Peniston's youngest son, had been working for Bramah since May 1830. See 1351, 1358.
Rev Mr Blennerhassett has written forgoing any claim for draining the glebe land, and in view of this liberality Peniston hopes that Percy will allow him the trifling sum for scouring the ditches. Asks to know the additional amount for repairing the chancel, so that the business can be closed. Peniston will then prepare a stamped valuation for Percy's signature. Expresses his pleasure at meeting Percy, but regrets that the distance involved will create an expense to his employer disproportionate to the sum he will have to receive.¹

1. Ryme Intrinsic dilapidations. See 1572.

1612 12 Nov. 1830. Messrs Stewart and Harding, builders, Farnham, Surrey.
Arranges to meet at Farnborough to discuss the conservatory.

1613 13 Nov. 1830. Mr Hagger, Cannington.
Encloses a drawing for Porter respecting the division of the modillions. Discusses architectural details.

1614 15 Nov. 1830. Robert Dugdale Esq, Wareham.
Encloses a cheque for £1 17s. 6d, with apologies for the delay in payment. The money had in fact been taken to Swanage by a friend to pay him, but had been brought back. Peniston had then intended to visit on his way to Upton House, but was prevented.

1615 16 Nov. 1830. Rev Christopher Fawcett, Whitchurch, Dorset.
Explains that he had replied to the previous letter [1608], but had misread the postmark as Andover instead of Blandford, and had therefore sent the reply to Whitchurch in Hampshire. Hopes to forward the valuation in a few days.

1616 16 Nov. 1830. J L Alford Esq.
Bishop of Salisbury v. Sloper. Requests details of the time, place, and nature of the evidence required of him.

Re Harrington estate.¹ Mr Ings had told him confidentially that Mrs Harrington's bill for £380 would become due but that he could not take it up. Peniston had suggested a meeting, but does not know the outcome, and is anxious not to communicate on the business more than absolutely necessary. Asks Alford to correspond with Mr Gibbons about it, and to use every professional exertion to close the business by the time appointed. Has not seen any advertisement for the disposal of the lease.

¹. See 850, 1558.
1617 16 Nov. 1830. Messrs Carson and Miller, Warminster.
Acknowledges letter and requests a stamped receipt for the bill, as settled at the last sessions. Disputes their claim for the price of bricks supplied by Sainsbury, and cannot allow an intermediate profit by a tradesman in a quite distinct branch of business. Asks whether the posts and rails at Fonthill Bridge have yet been erected.

1618 17 Nov. 1830. Timothy Bramah Esq, Pimlico.
'My dear Sir, As you wished me to report to you any observations I might hear relative to your operations at Mr Assheton Smith's, I this morning noted the following: Wednesday morning, ½ past nine, Novr. 17 1830. Mr Wolfsteran the foreman of Mr Figes (who is an iron founder) has this minute informed me: that the plan for heating the house at Tidworth by Messrs Bramah was a complete failure; that they never could get the heat up to 60 degrees; and that Mr Northeast had told Mr Figes the above, who had repeated it to him. Mr Wolfsteran also stated that some person whom he declined naming had detected the workman of Mr Bramah in the act of dipping the thermometer into hot water, for the purpose of deceiving those who were about to examine it to ascertain the heat of the apartment. I told Mr Wolfsteran I should repeat the observations he had made, and he requested I would forbear doing so till he had spoken with Mr Figes. I immediately noted the conversation and on my return home (now 3 p.m.) I find a note of which the following is a copy:

"Sir, On my return home I named the circumstance we were speakin [sic] of this morning to Mr Figes, when he again asserted, Mr Northeast told him on Sunday last Mr Bramah had failed in effectually heating Mr Assheton Smith's house, and that the thermometer could not be raised to 60 degrees. I am respectfully your obed't serv't, Thos. Wolfsteran. Nov. 17 1830, To J Peniston Esq."’

I have been very particular in noting these observations and trust it may be the means of exposing a villainous threat to injure you and yours. Again repeating, my dear Sir, my thorough readiness to serve you in any manner that circumstances may render desirable.'

1. MS very inserted above the line.
2. A letter from Francis Bramah (Timothy's brother), dated 22 Nov. 1830, and a paper refuting the allegations, are WRO 451/60.

1619 18 Nov. 1830. Richard Attwood Esq.
Mr Crook has failed to convince him that his charge for work at Cowesfield Farm is correct. Has no objection to meeting a surveyor on Crook's part, if Attwood approves.

1620 18 Nov. 1830. Arthur Baker Esq, 5 Great George Street North, Dublin.
Sends balance sheet of receipts and payments to the present, and of sums due to the lords of the manor of Grimstead. Discusses the tenancies of Mr Joshua Tubb and Mr Wall. Has charged for negotiating with Mr Cobb relative to the claims of Mr Wynch's executors, and has also taken credit for a sum owed him by the lords of the manor of Dean. Seeks instructions over the case of Aaron Futcher, who resides in a cottage at Grimstead and regards it as his own, refusing to pay rent. Has had many applications from the executors of the late Mr Wynch, but awaits directions from the lords of the manor.

1621 19 Nov. 1830. Mr G V Wing.
Expresses regret at Wing's indisposition when Peniston called on him. Regrets firstly that, Wing having agreed to the use of his name and put his shoulder to the wheel, he has now drawn back; and secondly that his decision will give their opponents a triumph, since it will be fatal to their intention of carrying the case to the courts above. Had Wing not withdrawn he would have been exonerated from all expense.

1622 19 Nov. 1830. Charles Adams Esq, Elm Cottage, near the new church, Chelsea. [Farnborough House]: Has received from Messrs Smith and Bayly copy correspondence between Mr Morant and Mr Adams. Has replied to them that a direct acknowledgement from Mr Morant of the correctness of Peniston's statement of monies paid is required. Mr Morant seems to be suggesting a meeting between Peniston and Adams. Peniston will be happy to wait on Adams in London, if he does not consider such a meeting an improper interference.

1623 19 Nov. 1830. Messrs Smith and Bayley, Basinghall Street [London].
It appears that Mr Adams requires a direct acknowledgement from Mr Morant of the correctness of Peniston's statement of monies paid. Will send a copy of Mr Morant's letter to Mr Adams, but fears that the only effect will be to induce him to lower the profits on the outlay of works ineffectually executed. Is becoming excessively fidgety at the protraction of the business. Should Peniston arrange a meeting with Adams?

1624 19 Nov. 1830. Messrs Carson and Miller.
Has received more annoyance from asking them to procure materials and bricklayers for the work at Codford Bridge, than he has experienced altogether since employed for the county. Reiterates the arrangement, and offers to pay from his own pocket any reasonable expenses incurred thereby. But if they apply to the magistrates respecting their attempt to make a profit over the bricks, it would not redound very highly to their credit, and the magistrates would be apt to call the transaction by its proper name.1 Gives notice that unless he receives a stamped receipt for the correct amount immediately, he will put the business in Mr Swayne's hands, and the magistrates can decide for themselves. Regarding Fonthill Bridge no extras expenses will be allowed, and the posts are to be covered properly and firmly with lead. This they did not do at Codford, and they must make good.

‘My Lord, I have this evening received information from the most respectable authority that a mob is expected to assemble at Broughton tomorrow morning — a place in Hampshire about 12 miles from Salisbury. In the absence of Lord Arundell I have directed the Salisbury Troop to hold themselves in readiness for service at the shortest notice. I have also directed a letter to Captain Wyndham to Dinton House giving him the information I have received, that he may exercise his judgment as to giving similar orders to the Hindon Troop. I think it my duty to convey the earliest information to your Lordship and respectfully suggest how far it may be desirable to draw the attention of officers commanding Troops to be on the alert at the present moment.

'My Lord, I am much pleased that the course I have pursued meets your Lordship's approval, and have also the gratification of informing your Lordship that our services have not been required. Indeed I think the great advantage of Yeomanry Corps is to prevent rather than cure the evils of commotion, as the knowledge that a body of men being in arms to suppress a riot is the best means to prevent it. I wrote in haste to your Lordship on Friday night. I now copy for your Lordship's information the letter I received from my friend Mr Webb which induced me to take precautionary measures.

'I regret to say, Mr Pettit has not exactly followed your Lordships instructions relative to filling up the ordnance returns. He did not consult me and has partly filled them up in ink and in that erroneously; it will be impossible to correct them without scratching out the errors. 1636 22 Nov. 1830.1 Marquis of Bath.
'My Lord, I regret to say the peaceable appearances under which I addressed your Lordship last night have changed for other less pleasing. I was awoke between 12 and 1 o'clock by a person bearing the information that an express had arrived from a respectable farmer named Judd, requesting the aid of the Cavalry. Stating that himself and son had been beaten with bludgeons by a mob from adj'g parishes stimulating his own laborers to rise, that they had torn up the paling before his house and threatened to return and pull his house down. This person resides at Newtontone, in this county about 10 miles from Salisbury.2

'I cannot but apprehend that from the success these parties have had in obliging their employers to raise their wages and inducing some of the magistrates to advance the scale of allowances, and which they were unwise enough to publish in our yesterday paper, it will run like wild fire through this and the adj'g counties holding out an inducement to the working classes to congregate for similar proposes.3 And however desirable it may be that the wages of the laborer should be increased the medium by which this is now accomplishing is anything but desirable. Mr Wyndham our Member has been I understand informed of the foregoing circumstance, and has expressed a wish that some of the county magistrates might be sent for to meet early this morn'g at Salisbury to consider what course to pursue. I have in consequence sent an express to the Rev'd Mr Duke who resides about 7 or 8 miles from here4 and Mr Cobb and their clerk of the division at 6 this morn'g to wait on Mr Fort who lives at about half the distance from us.5
My son informs me that he saw a fire from one of the hills adj’g the town very distinctly last night about 11 o’clock. It appeared to be of magnitude and he supposed it to be about the neighbourhood of Amesbury.

If my Lord it should appear to you desirable under these or other circumstances to assemble the other Troops of the Regiment, I respectfully submit whether it may not be desirable for them to meet in divisions so as to cover the whole of the County. Thus the Swindon and Marlbro’ Troops might be quartered at Marlbro’; the Salisbury and Hindon at Salisbury; the Devizes, Warminster, Melksham, Chippenham and Malmesbury in their respective towns. They would be thus at easy distances to support each other and the whole regiment might assemble at any given’ in a short time, should circumstances render it necessary. The Salisbury and Hindon with the Marlbro’ and Swindon would cover the whole of the south-eastern part of Wilts; the 2 former Troops with the Warminster on the S.W. and with the Devizes commanding the centre. The Warminster, Melksham and Chippenham Troops would keep Bradford and Trowbridge in check and the Devizes Troop would be well placed to co-operate with either. A constant chain of communication may be kept up either by orderlies or coaches. And your Lordship might receive daily information at Longleat and be enabled to issue orders from thence, unless you may think it may be desirable to establish your H’d Quarters at Devizes as the most central part of the county.

I forgot to mention in my letter of last night that Capt Wyndham requires 6 pistols for the Hindon Troop, and our Q.M. informs me that we have 6 pistols unfit for service and wishes them to be exchanged. I shall endeavour to send this by an early coach for your Lordship’ information. And am etc. etc., J Peniston.'

1638 22 Nov. 1830.¹ The Most Noble the Marquis of Lansdowne, Lord Lieut. of the County of Wilts, London.

'My Lord, I know not whether the circumstances which have recently transpired in this neighbourhood may yet have reached your Lordship, but I regret to say they have very riotous tendencies and appear to be spreading themselves but too rapidly.

'In consequence of information I received on Friday evening last of an expected riotous assemblage at Broughton, I felt it my duty in the absence of my Captain Lord Arundell to direct the Salisbury Troop to hold themselves in readiness for immediate service. And informed my Colonel the Marquis of Bath of the course I had pursued. He has been pleased to approve it. This storm however blew over and I wrote to his Lordship last night to apprise him of it but circumstances have since transpired that have induced me again to address. If your Lordship will do me the honor to peruse a copy of it which I send with this, it will explain what has taken place and what I have taken the liberty of recommending, should he think it desirable to order the other Troops of Wiltshire Yeomanry on service. My reasons for troubling your Lordship at this moment arises from an opinion that the Marquis of Bath would not assemble his Regiment without consulting your Lordship as Lord Lieutenant of the County. And if this assemblage should be considered desirable to prevent mischief no time is to be lost. And as I hope to be enabled to forward this so as that it may reach your Lordship this evening it would if it meet your approval enable Lord Bath to be in possession of your Lordship's sentiments by tomorrow's post. I will trust to your Lordship's kindness to excuse the liberty I take in thus addressing you, begging you will be assured that I have no other motive than an earnest wish to do my duty, and if possible to aid in preventing mischief, a service for which I think the Yeomanry are better calculated than in curing it.

'With the highest respect I have the honor to be, my Lord, Your Lordship's faithful and obedient servant, J Peniston, Lieut. Assisting Adjutant.'

1. Letter is headed Close Salisbury 5 AM, Nov 22d 1830.

'Sir, understanding from your servant that he is sending a parcel to you this evening, I take the opportunity of informing you that we are all in arms here. Riot, confusion and burning are the orders of the day as well as of the night in this once peaceful neighbourhood. From the information I received I felt it my duty to order the Salisbury Troop to be in readiness for immediate service since Friday night last.

This morning a meeting of the county magistrates was held, at which it was determined to request that the Hindon and Salisbury Troops would hold themselves in readiness to act under their orders, anticipating the probability of their services being required to-morrow. Enquiries were made for you which I was unable to answer, but stated my intention of writing to you this evening. I have been in correspondence with the Marquis of Bath, and I have this day written to the Marquis of Lansdowne recommending to the former to call out the Regiment and station them in divisions, so as to cover the whole face of the county, which is more in danger from insurrection than at any period within my knowledge. I recommend the Hindon and Salisbury Troops to be stationed in Salisbury; the Swindon and Marlbro' to be at Marlbro'; the Devizes, the Warminster, the Chippenham, Melksham and Malmesbury Troops to be quartered in their respective towns. By this arrangement I calculate the Marlbro' and Salisbury divisions will cover the S.E. part of Wilts. The latter with the Warminster the S.W., and with the Devizes the centre of the county. The Warminster, Melksham and Chippenham Troops will keep Bradford and Trowbridge in check. The Devizes will be well placed to co-operate with any other part of the county. An easy communication could be kept up with the respective Troops, and the whole might be if necessary concentrated in a very short time at any part of the county. The magistrates of this city and county are at this moment busy in swearing in special constables for the peace of the city and its immediate neighbourhood. Mr H Everett is this afternoon returned from Biddesdon in the neighbourhood I believe of Ludgershall. He gives a frightful account of the proceedings there. I confess I cannot but feel anxious that you should be here at the present time, and hope we shall soon have the pleasure of seeing you.

'I am with sincere respect, dear Sir, your faithful and obed't serv't, Peniston.

'PS. You will have the kindness to excuse haste. I was called up between 12 and 1 this morning. Up again at four writing till 8, in fact all day. I am now going to the Council House to assist in arranging the special constables.'

1640 25 Nov. 1830. Marquis of Bath.

'My Lord, our orders were yesterday so rapid in succession I had not time to close my letter.' You will have perceived, my Lord, the arrival of Lieut. Col. Baker, who was kind enough to add a few lines to my dispatch, I being at the time mounted. The Troop under command of L'd Arundell having received directions to proceed without loss of time to West Park, Mr Coote' its proprietor having been twice attacked by strong bodies of rioters, but he repelled them most gallantly, severely wounding several and taking 10 prisoners, who have since been committed. Lieut. Col. Baker marched with the Troop, who on their arrival found a strong civil and domestic force, so at to render it unnecessary [sic] for the whole of the Troop to remain, but at the request of Mr Coot Lord Arundell left a detachment of 12 men under my command to stay the night. We had a good bivouac but it being the second night this portion of the Troop had been under arms, and their horses having been saddled the whole of the period, the duty has been somewhat severe. I have great pleasure in saying the duty has been met in the most cheerful and spirited manner by the Troop who turned out twice yesterday, each time in line and told off within 7 minutes. Our Troop detachment returned to Quarters this morning at 9 am, making a detour of several villages in our way. Where we found all quiet and the villagers generally expressing great pleasure at our presence. Capt’n Wyndham with the Hindon Troop under the directions of L’d Radnor assisted in bringing in 12 prisoners from the neighbourhood of Alderbury last night, who are committed. The Hindon Troop are this day gone to Hindon and Mere, some factories in the latter place having been threatened. Lord Arundell expects Capt’n Wyndham’s return tonight or to-morrow morning. Col.
Myers is now here, having been sent by order of the Commander in Chief to ascertain the state of the country, and the disposable force to meet the exigencies of the times. He suggested it is most highly necessary that a constant communication should exist between the several stations in which Troops are placed, and that H’d Quarters sho’d be established from which general orders should emanate. At the suggestion of Col. Myers I send this by express, and shall be obliged by your Lordship’s commands and opinion returned by the messenger.

"I regret to learn your opinion that all is not yet sound in your neighbourhood, and equally regret the causes. I had hoped that your Lordship's benevolent example would have been followed, even though it had not been dictated by the same motives that operated in your conduct. For the time is now arrived when even policy is called upon to meet the exigency of the claim where humanity is wanting.

"I shall have great pleasure in accepting your Lordship's kind invitation to spend a day at Wardour, and will mention Sunday next for that purpose should it not be inconvenient to you. Your Lordship will be pleased to learn that, in answer to a letter from Col. 'Sir, I shall have great pleasure if I can render you any assistance in your very praiseworthy attempt to restore the yeomanry caps in Dorsetshire. In answer to your queries: the expense of outfit of officer and private see inclosed statement. I know not whether government will make you any allowance beyond arms at starting. The allowance afterwards (to us) is £3 per man per annum by half-yearly payments in advance. By an arrangement in our regiment this sum is equally divided between the Col. and Captns. of the Troops. The Col. furnishing the different troops with new clothing at stated periods and supplying what new appointments may be required from time to time. The Captns. paying from their moiety repairs of arms, appts. etc., a salary to a trumpeter and allowance for a drill serjt., and any other contingency that may present itself. I think I may venture to say these allowances have been found ample for the supply of our wants. When on permanent duty the officers receive the pay of their respective ranks, the non-commissioned officers and privates 7s. a day each to cover all expenses.

'Our staff consists of one Lieut. Col. Commandant the Marquis of Bath; Lieut. Col. Edw’d Baker; Major Benett; and our present Adjt. Mr Pettit being incapacitated by age and infirmity from acting, I have for some years past volunteered his duty for him. Our regiment originally consisted of 10 troops, now 9, but late events will I think restore us to our original number. The strength of the existing troops is rapidly increasing.

'I believe these are the extent of your queries. If you will present any others to me as they may arise, I shall be happy to answer them. I would offer to attend your meeting, but am at present confined by indisposition arising, I believe, from rather strong measures I took in repressing a gouty attack during our last service. Should you go on it will give me great pleasure on a future day to offer you any personal or other assistance in my power. I will take the liberty of suggesting to you it may be desirable to fix the minimum of your standard for horses at 14½ hands; to have at least one young subaltern officer to each troop; to be careful in the selection of your non-commissioned officers; let them be young, active, riding their own horses, and living as nearly together as circumstances will allow. The esprit-de-corps produced by these means may be of the greatest consequence to your future well-being. Experience has taught me the advantages arising from such a combination. If you can find officers I should not be anxious to have very large troops. In the first instance from 30 to 40 men could make a very good troop, and more easily put together than in greater numbers. I will again repeat if any farther advice or assistance should appear necessary do not hesitate to ask it. I shall be pleased to answer.'

They are not quite regular, but I trust they will pass muster at the War Office. You will I know be pleased to learn that I am much better, but as a measure of prudence and precaution I have not yet ventured out, and starving has been the order of the day. If I long continue the present system I shall undoubtedly again become a light horseman. Dr Fowler has been very kind; he has not allowed a day to pass without calling.
'I believe we are all very quiet. I have heard nothing from our own neighbourhood to induce me to believe otherwise. I had a letter from Mr Portman in the early part of the week stating a meeting was about to be held at his house for the purpose of arranging the formation of a yeomanry corps in Dorsetshire, asking information on sundry points. I understand also Mr Coote is manufacturing a troop in his vicinity, and Mr Brodie is raising a corps bourgeois in Salisbury.'
Has sent paylist returns and orders of service to Lt Col Baker [1674]. Discusses the completion of other returns.

Has only just received Payne's reply to a proposed meeting about the Hindon accounts. Submits and discusses tradesmen's accounts.

1677 18 Dec. 1830. Messrs Stewart and Harding, builders, Farnham, Surrey.

Admits that there have been delays at Clarendon, as reported by Sir Frederick Bathurst, caused partly by illness and absence. Discusses details. Acknowledges flattering observations about the services rendered by the yeomanry, and hopes that a consequence may be the general re-establishment of local forces. Notes that he has served 35 of his 52 years in the service, and has never known so enthusiastic attachment as now prevails.

1680 18 Dec. 1830. Mr A Deltome, Messrs Bramah, Pimlico.
Surprised that his men were refused admission at Farnborough, and has written to the parties involved [1677-8]. Takes the liberty of addressing his son William under Mr Deltome's cover.

1681 22 Dec. 1830. Messrs Stevens, Blackmore and Sons.
Orders materials for uniforms, for the Salisbury troop.

Acknowledges a kind note. Has heard from Lord Bath that the high sheriff has ordered the yeomanry to hold themselves in readiness for immediate service in their respective districts. Confirms that the troop will assemble the following Monday, although he understands that the commission, having opened on Monday, will adjourn until Thursday. Discusses half-yearly returns.

Has not received orders from Devizes postponing the assembly until Thursday. Lord Bath has informed him that the Devizes and Marlborough troops will also be on duty. Asks that Lady Arundell be informed that Mr Osmund will give a character reference on Aubrey’s behalf.

INDEX OF PERSONS AND PLACES

Places are in Wiltshire unless otherwise stated. Places elsewhere are cross-referenced by county. All places, if not themselves parishes, are cross-referenced by ancient parish. The sub-heading 'as address' is used under frequently occurring places to distinguish letters which are addressed to but not directly concerned with that place. Homonymous persons are distinguished where possible. Forenames or initials, where not given in the letters, have been supplied from Pigot's directories or other appropriate sources wherever identifications are likely, and enclosed within square brackets if doubtful. Composite company names are cross-referenced under each surname. Apart from introductory page numbers (romans), index references are to letters numbers, not pages.
